SESSIONS BEING HELD AT HIGHLAND CHURCH

Church Reports Are Being Made—Col. Raymond Robins To Speak

What augurs to be a most inspiring and successful conference opened Monday evening in the Highland United Presbyterian church with about 300 ministers, laymen and interested members of the denomination in attendance.

This opens the 73rd annual session of the First Synod of the West which includes the presbyteries of Beaver valley, Butler, Mercer, Cleveland, Allegheny, Lake and Caledonia and almost every presbytery is represented by minister and delegate.

The session opened by a selection by the Highland choir, followed by an opening exercise conducted by the host pastor, Rev. C. J. Williamson, D.
D., followed in prayer by Rev. J. R.
Neale of New Wilmington, vice moderator of the synod.

Moderator Speaks.

The moderator of the synod, Rev.
Harlan McCartney, D. D., of Sharon then took charge of the session and welcomed the delegates and announced that the theme of the synod this year is "The Holy Spirit" with the theme divided into four parts, one for each session, that being taken up Monday evening being "The Person of the Holy Spirit." He then proceeded

PA NEW OBSERVES

Several hundred autos were parked in the Highland avenue vicinity last night. At the Highland U. P. church where a synod meeting was in progress, not only the streets in the vicinity of the church, but a large portion of Boyles field were taken up with parked cars. A little further up the street, a service was in progress at Temple Israel and here again large numbers of parked cars were on the streets.

On North Mercer street last night young lady being led down the street by small black dog.

Conference between council and school board committee on Monday at city hall, over the matter of paving Euclid avenue was enlightening. Pa
New cannot see that there is pressing need for the several additional paving jobs that council is attempting to hang onto the project. The chief matter of interest to citizens at the present time is having a paved thoroughfare to the new junior high school. That in itself is not a big project and should easily be arranged for.

East North street, between East and Neshannock, will see more drivers taking the new bridge route to go throughtown once the paving job is completed. Congestion on East Washington street will be relieved all the more.

Pa New saw a near smashup at the Neshannock and East Washington street corner Monday. One driver going the wrong way on Neshannock sped out into the intersection at the city building without warning and well-nigh an accident. Anyways drivers coming down the Neshannock should remember it's usually a one-way street and motorists aren't arguing on meeting cars there.

It is probable Mayor William Gillespie will confer with state highway department officials prior to removing the light at West Madison avenue

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the time has arrived when the Community Chest will again begin its activities for another year and,
WHEREAS this year, we will need your support both physically and financially to this worthy cause more than ever before; that those less fortunate may be assisted, and WHEREAS Mrs. Grace Phillips Johnson and the Honorable James A. Chambers are to give their time and talent to the support of this cause, that it may be carried through to a successful conclusion, NOW THEREFORE, I William H. Gillespie, Mayor of the City of New Castle, do proclaim the opening of this Campaign for subscriptions.

Chinese Railroad Expert Makes Stop Here; Studies Methods

From far-away China came a railroad expert of the orient yesterday to study for a brief period the methods now being used by the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania lines. With a Pennsylvania official from Pittsburgh, he stopped off here for an hour or so on Monday.

Only the name of Chang was overheard during the interesting conversation he had with local officers, and no where could his first name be learned.

Eight other Chinese government men besides himself are now in the United States inspecting the different railroads. The entire group was sent by the government of China, under whose jurisdiction the railroads of that country operate. It is said that Chang is an assistant engineer on the staff of the minister of railways.

Quite a lengthy meeting was held between Mr. Chang and E. A. Fenton, local supervising agent. He happened to be going through the offices and found Mr. Fenton at his desk. Z. M.
Briggs, attached to the chief engineer's office in Pittsburgh, and who is accompanying the visitor, introduced him.

"He appeared to be a bright young fellow," Mr. Fenton remarked today.
"He's only 25 years old, according to our way of judging age—but 27 from the way the Chinese determine age.
He tried to explain the difference to me, but it was difficult to understand.
But there is a two years' difference."
Chang, it was learned, has been

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 23.—The torch of revolt smoldered and flamed sporadically along the west coast of South America today, and unrest seethed in at least one spot on its eastern seaboard.

Chile, Ecuador and Uruguay rumbled with discordant sounds, placing the stability of the respective governments under suspicion. Effective censorship cloaked the real situation in a veil of uncertainty, however.

Ecuador On Guard

Military movements, subversive in character, were believed afoot in Ecuador as the culmination of existing dissatisfaction among the troops due to application of the governmental economy as to army appropriations.
At Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, business leaders executed a sharp protest against further old age retirement and pension taxes by halting business for two days and publicly charging the government with an existing pension fund deficit of $250,- 000,000.

The Chilean government as well as its legation here issued lengthy statements defining the character of a brief revolt in the south of Chile that was held a complete failure, but other reports tended to contradict the official communiques. The situation in Chile by expert observers today was viewed as "extremely grave," with the possibility of an outburst in Santiago city held probable.

Suspect Body May Be Missing New York Judge

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Police today rushed friends of the missing supreme court justice, Joseph Force Crater, to the Sea View morgue to view a body recovered from the water off Sea View, Staten Island. The body tallies in some particulars with the description of the justice, who disappeared August 6.

The right index finger of the recovered body was mutilated, it was reported, tallying with the line in the police description, "tip of right index finger mutilated due to having been recently crushed."

The upper and lower jaw teeth of the recovered body were missing. Justice Crater wore plates to hold these teeth.

Declares Dancing Girl Knows Nothing Of Judge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Sally Ritz, attractive young dancer in "Artists and Models" and reported to have last dined with Judge Joseph F. Crater, mysteriously missing New York jurist, is now in this city, it was learned today.

Mrs. Lou Ritz, the girl's mother, declined to reveal Miss Ritz's Pittsburgh address when questioned at her Youngstown, Ohio, home. The mother declared her daughter "knows nothing about the case" and that "those stories involving her are just being put out by New York reporters."

According to Mrs. Ritz, Judge Crater carried considerable money on his person at the dinner attended by her 17-year-old daughter.

"We all had dinner together," Mrs.
Ritz said, telling of a dinner party attended by Judge Crater, Sally, Mrs.
Ritz's husband and herself. "When the judge left he said he was going to Westchester to swim. That is the first time Sally ever saw him and the last."

Youngstown, O., Sept. 23.—Sally Lou Ritz, showgirl of "Artists and Models" and one of the last persons to see Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater whose mysterious disappearance has rocked judicial circles in New York City was located at the home of her parents here today.

Mrs. Lou Ritz, mother of the attractive 17-year-old dancer, admitted that Sally had returned to her home here after spending Saturday Sunday and last evening in Pittsburgh.

DRY REFERENDUM DECISION AWAITED

Governor Ritchie Seeking Fourth Term In Office And Faces Tough

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Another prohibition referendum was chalked down on the list today for decision in November.

The latest wet-dry test will be conducted almost within the shadow of the capitol—just across the line in nearby Maryland, where many Washingtonians, including some government officials, live and have their voting residences.

The action of the Maryland Republicans, in convention assembled, in writing a prohibition plank into their platform makes it certain that this issue will enter prominently, perhaps decisively, in the free state's gubernatorial contest. The Democrats have already adopted a platform calling for the return of prohibition control to the states. Thus the issue in Maryland becomes clear-cut.

Ritchie In Race

Presidential politics also enter into the Maryland contest, for Maryland's three-time governor and three-time favorite son for the Democratic presidential nomination, Albert C. Ritchie, is seeking his fourth term. Perhaps the most militant and persistent of all the wets, Ritchie has never wavered.

Uniontown Man Is Found Dead

William "Billy" Berg, Fath-

Is Found Dead In Creek

ANTI-CLIMAX TO SENSATIONAL TRIAL

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 23.—Coming as a sensational anti-climax to the murder trial of Tony Bell, William (Billy) Berg, Bell's 60-year-old father-in-law, was found dead in the waters of Red Stone creek here today.

Hasty investigation failed to immediately determine whether Berg was the victim of foul play, accident or suicide.

The body was lying partly submerged in the creek when found. It was confined. The coat later was found on the bank of the turbid little stream.

There was an ugly gash above Berg's left eye but police were unable to tell at first whether the wound indicated foul play or was suffered when the man fell into the creek.

A footbridge leads over the creek, directly in the rear of the county jail, where the body was found. One theory advanced was that Berg had jumped or fallen from the bridge.

about 10:45 o'clock at the end of the line, of three holdup men, who took his money, and tokens at the point of a gun, and made their getaway in a Studebaker touring car.

Police authorities were notified and Detectives C. G. Logan and Officers Lockard and Dukes took up the trail of the holdup men, reported to be apparently about thirty years of age, but were unable to locate them. The trail finally led toward the Coaltown district.

The holdup men secured $25.75 in cash, and the money changer and token carrier of Mr. Kelliher.

Man Stands At Terminal Murder-Suicide At Pittsburgh Uncovered Today

Fifty-Two Are Rescued From Grounded Ships

Forty Members Of Steamer "City Of Osaka" And Twelve On Steamer Ida Rescued

BREECHES BUOYS USED SUCCESSFULLY

(International News Service)
PETERHEAD, Scotland, Sept. 23.—Forty members of the crew of the British steamer "City of Osaka" were rescued by means of a breeches buoy today a few hours after the vessel went ashore on the rocky northeast coast of Scotland six miles south of Buchanan Ness, off Aberdeenshire.

The breeches buoy was catapulted to the vessel's deck by a lifeboat which put out to her assistance on receipt of an S. O. S. The remaining forty members of the crew were expected to be rescued by the same means shortly.

The "City of Osaka" was bound for New York when she was driven ashore. There were no passengers aboard.

JOHNSTON FIGHTS HARD TO QUALIFY

Jones, shooting a sub par 69 and many low scores between them. Johnston set out this morning to shoot the kind of golf that won him the championship last year and almost beat Jones in the British Amateur event. The first of three titles that the wonderful Jones won this year.

Desperate Golf

Johnston may have played good golf in this round, but, at least it was desperate fighting golf. He started with two pars and a birdie, the latter coming on the second hole, where he chipped close to the pin and sank a goodly putt for a 4. At the fourth, however he was trapped off the tee and his out was so weak that he was fortunate to get a 6. He repeated with another at the fifth hole where he was in the brook and had to take a penalty stroke.

At this point, Johnston looked the part of a very bad bet as a qualifier. But he fought his way home to a 73 for a total of 156, which either will qualify him or bring him so close that a micrometer won't be able to tell the difference. Yesterday, he three putted everything and on one occasion he actually took four putts. But today his putter was strictly under control and he proved it by putting perfectly, except on the fifteenth. Here, he three putted but otherwise his round was a succession of sound putting.

Johnston's card:—
Out . . . 4 3 3 6 3 4 3 4—37.
In . . . 4 5 5 2 3 5 4 4—36—73.
Johnston's 5 on the eleventh broke his heart. Here he spanked a beautiful tee shot down the fairway and was shooting for a birdie, which he sorely needed. Instead, he pitched into a trap and his explosion to the pin was short. At the twelfth, he was trapped with his drive and wasted a stroke getting out. But he played a great tee shot at the short thirteenth, his drive leaving him only a 2 foot putt which he promptly negotiated for a 2.

Another birdie followed fourteenth where he sank one of the longest putts of the tournament, a 60 footer. Having done which, he three putted fifteenth, and after getting a par 4 at the sixteenth, he took three shots from the edge of the green at the seventeenth. However, by this time he knew that he either was in with the qualifying effort that his score was such that those who qualified would have a tremor of uncertainty.

The trustees of the village of "Bambury" contracted with the People's Electric company of that district to place and supply the electricity for a certain number of street lights at designated street intersections. The company promptly went to work. It erected poles on diagonal corners and strung wires between them at the designated intersections and the streets were illuminated.

But business wasn't going well for the People's Electric company, and soon it transferred all its rights, properties and contracts to a new concern, the Republic Light & Power company, and the Republic entered into a new contract with the village of Bambury by which it agreed to take over the provisions of the former agreement and the trustees in turn approved the lamps as now located. So things went on peacefully for awhile, but one day a lamp accidentally blew down and hit a villager on the head and caused his confinement to the village infirmary for some weeks. When he recovered he immediately filed suit against the village for damages.

The trustees, on receiving notification of the suit, went into session over the matter. They decided that the lamps were really not their creation, but belonged to the Republic Light & Power company, and so filed suit against the Republic to recover what damages they had to pay the villager.

How would you decide this case? Make up your mind before you read the decision. (Decision will be found on Classified Page.)

and Liberty street. The light was placed there for protection to school children. It is probable that when a check of traffic was made the school children were on vacations.

City Electrician George Nickum and his assistant have their troubles with the traffic lights, according to a statement made by Nickum yesterday. Asked if he is kept busy, the municipal electrician replied that he was busy installing new bulbs. He reported that recently a number of bulbs have burned out and no time can be lost in installing good bulbs.

The people in general will coincide with the view of Mayor Gillespie and Councilman Genkinger that the squirrels which inhabit the parks, especially Gaston, should not be molested. Persons who are sending dogs into the park to kill the squirrels will be arrested and fined, if captured, according to Mayor Gillespie.

Talking of squirrels many remember when Berger Woods was a mecca for them. One squirrel which apparently was tamer than the rest often journeyed last year to trees in Glenmore avenue and it was no uncommon sight for automobilists to slow up their automobiles while the squirrels travelled across Highland avenue.

City motorcycle officers are riding the North Hill section, especially Highland avenue in an effort to apprehend automobile speeders who endanger not only their own but other persons' lives. Many automobiles make the Steward place turn at 40 miles an hour enroute to the downtown section.

The municipal sweeper will operate tonight and it behooves automobilists to not use the downtown thoroughfares as a garage between midnight and six a. m. The sweeper operates Tuesday and Friday nights. Several automobilists have had to pay garage charges owing to their cars having interfered with the operation of the sweeper.

The robbery of A. C. Kellier, notman of a Penn-Ohio street car last night at the end of the Highland avenue line will no doubt result in a closer watch being kept in the outlying sections of the city. Highland avenue where the thoroughfare joins the road to Coalton is an especially dark place and proved an ideal spot for the street car bandits.

The four classic iron electric light holders on the outside walls of Central Fire Station are being painted black.

No mention of money claimed to be due the Firemen's Relief Fund association or pensions for firemen or police were made during Monday's session of council and it is not yet known if council will take up the problem of arranging for a new association. However, the subject is too important to both to be allowed to remain dormant.

Several years ago the city had a traffic commission but the present council has not dealt with the body. Recently in council session Mayor Gillespie, Police Chief Horner and Councilman Treser, superintendent of streets, were delegated to handle the traffic light situation. They have already embarked on that duty and the Atlantic Avenue light has been ordered removed.

New Castle has the second highest per capital light cost in Pennsylvania, according to Councilman Burns. Philadelphia is ace high with a per capital cost of $1.71 and New Castle follows with a per capita cost of $1.62. City council, however, believes that New Castle is the best illuminated city in the state. The city territory is scattered which made the problem harder to solve.

Persons who must travel Glass Street after the shades of darkness descend will feel a far greater degree of safety as soon as the 250 candle-power light has been erected, as ordered by council with Clayton Reeves as sponsor. Many persons travel from Grant street to homes and the Shenango Pottery Company and the council realized this fact in concurring in Reeves suggestion.

There are very few highways in the state of Pennsylvania with as many intersections as the Perry highway at Harlansburg and according to automobilists who do considerable driving it is a good place to obey the signs. State Highway traffic policemen are maintaining a sharp check on violations. It is a place where no one can afford to take a chance of disobeying signs.

Ten years ago it was impossible to cross from Highland Avenue to Wilmington, unless one took Moody avenue or around-about Coalton road thence to Wilmington highway. Nowadays there are several. Euclid Ave. can be used and Glenmore boulevard is in very good condition. In fact one can make faster time going north by using the Jefferson street-Wilmington Avenue to Glenmore route.

The health of the city of New Castle is very good at the present time. Only one case of contagion is on record. The patient has whooping cough. There were cases of typhoid fever with several fatalities but the threat of epidemic was kept down by the prompt action of Dr. William Steen and the subordinates of his health bureau.

MARYLAND G. O. P. ADOPTS DRY PLANK, OPPOSES RITCHIE

ered in his opposition to prohibition from the time the 18th amendment was written into the constitution.

Ritchie's Republican opponent is Mayor William F. Broening of Baltimore, who was unopposed for the nomination.

In addition to the prohibition issue against Ritchie, the Republicans plan a savage attack on what they characterize as "one man rule" in Maryland. Ritchie has been governor for twelve years and if elected in November will have extended his tenure of office in Maryland over a span of sixteen years. Until Ritchie came along, no governor of Maryland had ever succeeded himself.

It has been due to Ritchie's persistent opposition that Maryland today is one of the few states that has no state enforcement law to back up the Volstead act.

"No state officer is going to enforce a law that has been forced upon the citizens of Maryland without their consent and without their approval," said Ritchie, repeatedly.

In the face of this stand Maryland Republicans adopted this plank in their platform.

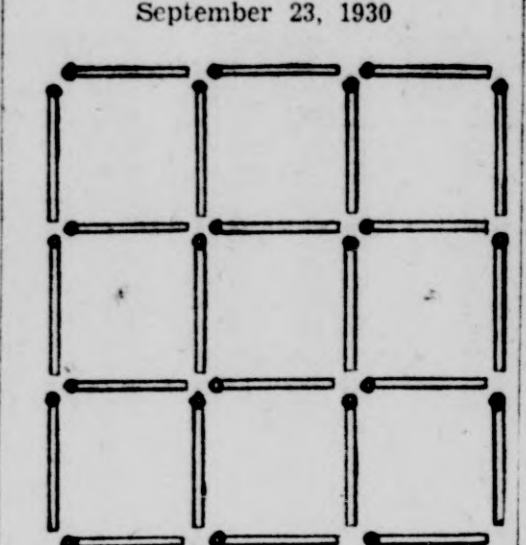

"The evils of the old-time saloon are now generally admitted and the Republican party is unalterably opposed to its return. Public preaching and condoning of violations of the national liquor laws have been resorted to as a screen for the various shortcomings of the present administration, and the purpose now is through this means to divert public attention from the fourth term, which is the chief issue of the campaign."

Divergence of Opinion
"We recognize that there is a divergence of opinion among honest and patriotic citizens as to the wisdom of the Eighteenth amendment and we concede to any individual or group of individuals the right to advocate its retention or repeal by all lawful means."

"As to the obligation of public officials under their oath of office to support and enforce all laws as they may exist, there can be no question. Unless a public official is himself an exemplar respect for law and order must suffer."

STAR LORE WHEN OUR SUN WAS AN INFANT STAR

By Arthur De C. Carpenter
Probably our sun had its origin in a vast cloud of dark nebula (cold dust particles). Russell says it is to dark nebulae, if to any known objects in the heavens, that we may perhaps look for the birthplace of stars. One of these dark nebulae, a nucleus developed that by the force of a gravitation attracted home particles to it. As the aggregation became great in mass heat naturally generated, converting the vast body into gas that slowly began to shine. Then it was doubtless becoming a red giant star, similar to Betheleguse or Antares. Such a star is in its early stage of evolution.

EUGENE SULLIVAN PLACED ON TRIAL FOR NADER DEATH

Judge J. Norman Martin, Attorney Thomas W. Dickey represents the defense.

First Witnesses
Albert Treser, civil engineer, was the first witness called. He exhibited plans of the Commodore lunch, operated by Abraham J. Nader.

Coroner J. P. Caldwell, was called to show the death of Mr. Nader at the New Castle hospital on the morning of July 24th.

Dr. J. L. Popp testified that on the morning of the 24th about 2 o'clock he saw Mr. Nader at the New Castle hospital. He was suffering a wound in the mouth. His lip was cut and several teeth were loosened. He said the injury might have been caused by a blow with a man's fist.

Nader was unconscious and remained unconscious until he died about 9 o'clock on the morning of the 24th. Dr. Popp afterwards held a post mortem. It was found that death had resulted from a rupture of blood vessels and a hemorrhage of the brain. The doctor said the injury might have been caused by a fall.

Richard Francis, employed as a cook at the Commodore restaurant, testified that he had seen Sullivan enter the restaurant after midnight on the morning of the 24th. He had been in the restaurant about 2 weeks. Book, sang "Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei" and "Aspen in Jesus" with Mary Weiss accompanying them.

Witness saw Sullivan go upstairs on the morning of the 24th. Witness went about his cooking. Later he saw Nader lying in the doorway of the restaurant. His feet were near the doorway and his body was on the sidewalk. He was bleeding at the mouth. Sullivan was standing on the sidewalk. Witness helped to carry Nader into the restaurant and the police were summoned. Nader was taken to the New Castle hospital.

Widow Testifies
Mrs. A. J. Nader, wife of the deceased, testified that on the night of July 6th, she could not sleep and had gone to the restaurant about 2 o'clock. She found her husband arguing with Sullivan, and trying to get him to leave.

George Nader, son of the deceased, said that Sullivan came into the restaurant frequently. He had heard his father say to him, "I don't want you in my place of business. I do not want you here."

Thomas Jacobs testified that he was in the restaurant on the morning of the 24th. He saw Richard Francis, John Nader, Elmo Clark, two or three carnival men and Eugene Sullivan. It was after midnight when Sullivan came in. "I sat down at the lunch counter and ordered some coffee," said witness. "I saw Sullivan go upstairs to the wash room."

"When he came down Sullivan stopped at a table where there were a couple of carnival men. Looking over their shoulders he said, 'You are reading the Billboard'. The carnival men did not answer. Mr. Nader came around the counter and talking Sullivan by the arm, told him that he did not want him to start any trouble. Nader started toward the door, holding to Sullivan's arm. Nader opened the door, and something was said. Just then Sullivan struck Nader on the jaw. Nader reached for the door to escape himself and Sullivan again struck him. Nader staggered and fell. Sullivan then went outside. Nader was carried into the restaurant and later taken to the New Castle hospital."

The case is still on trial.

assigned by his government to study the Pennsylvania's methods while his chief of the company, while the other roads. He just was passing over the division when he paid the surprise visit.

Besides Mr. Penton, Chang met other officials of the division. Mr. Briggs, whom the Pennsylvania has delegated as an official escort, said that he's been around considerably already. However, he's been studying the system for another year.

After his visit to the local office, a representative of Mr. Penton's office escorted both to the tracks of the Western Allegheny, where they boarded a railroad motor car for an inspection of that line. It is now operated by the Pennsylvania and is included in the Pennsylvania subsidiaries which he will inspect.

cated there, with a paper in his hand, while a second man was walking down the path or sidewalk. He could see a car parked down the road.

As he got out to turn the trolley of the car, the man standing at the sand box dropped his paper and pulled a gun on Mr. Keller, while the man going down the sidewalk or path at this point, walked over and started through his pockets.

The man searching Mr. Keller's pockets, the holdup men went to the car down the road, which was evidently operated by a third man and drove away, down toward the center of the city.

The car, however, went but a short distance toward the city, when it was turned around and went toward Coalton.

Sally would return to a show in Chicago within a few days.

Mrs. Ritz said that she and her husband had dinner with Judge Crater in a New York restaurant on the night he disappeared and that her daughter and William Klein, a theatrical agent, also were in the party.

"It's absurd to think she knows anything about the disappearance of Judge Crater," Mrs. Ritz said with finality. She said that Sally first met the missing jurist at the dinner party when her husband introduced the two.

BIRTHDAY HONORED WITH GATHERING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Miller of Cumberland avenue was the scene of a pleasant social gathering last evening when the latter entertained a number of guests, the occasion being her birthday. It also honored her sister, Mrs. William Hurd and son Junior of Akron, O., who are visiting in the city.

Four tables of cards occupied the social hours. A bountiful menu was served at the conclusion of play by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Orville Potter and Miss Jean Sumner, the latter who was also a special guest. Two large birthday cakes appropriately decorated formed centerpieces. Various bouquets of fall flowers decorated the house throughout, as well as the tables.

Toward the close of the evening, Mrs. Miller was presented with a beautiful birthday gift in behalf of those in attendance, as a memento of the day.

Guests who participated were Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Woods, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cox, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wimer, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Potter, Miss Jean Sumner, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Miller and son.

CIRCLE OF '91 OPENS SEASON WITH LUNCHEON

The dining room of The Castleton, beautifully decorated with fall blooms and large tables perfectly arranged with fall trimmings, was indeed an ideal setting for the first gathering of the ladies of the Circle of '91 when they met for a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday. Covers were laid for 36 guests, including Mrs. Homer Munnell and Mrs. J. F. Gleason who honored the occasion with their presence.

After a delicious menu had been served, the regular program was carried out which follows: Greetings by the president; Song, "Circle of '91" by the Circle; Pennsylvania, by Mrs. Carmi Glover; Original Story, by Mrs. Parker; Favorite Songs, by Mrs. J. G. Clements.

The committee in charge of the affair comprise Mrs. Ira Fulkerson, Mrs. Carmi Glover and Mrs. W. H. Gillespie who are to be congratulated upon the complete success of the luncheon marking a splendid opening for their season's gatherings.

On October 6, the Circle will hold their meeting at the home of Mrs. R. B. Davenport on the Wilmington road.

MRS. H. L. DAGUE IS HONORED BY APPOINTMENT

She received her appointment from the Supreme Watchman, H. E. Chase of Ontario, Canada.

Honors Birthday

The Misses Suzanne and Helen Wallace were delightful hostesses last evening when they entertained a number of guests in their home on Adams street in honor of their mother, Mrs. Laura Wallace, the occasion being her birthday.

A general social time was enjoyed with various games being played, and at the conclusion of the entertainment, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Maude Wimer and Mrs. Margaret Bruce. Later a tempting lunch was served by the hostesses at a table beautifully decorated suggestive of the fall season. A large birthday cake formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. John Agnew of New Wilmington and Sara Heberling of Portersville were the only out-of-town guests present.

The honor guest was the recipient of a shower of dainty handkerchiefs in remembrance of the day.

DE JANE-CONWAY WEDDING MONDAY

The wedding of Miss Marguerite DeJane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick DeJane of East Washington street, to Edward Conway son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Conway of Enon Valley, beautifully celebrated with high nuptial mass, Monday morning, September 22, in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock, was one of the outstanding weddings of the early fall season.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. P. J. McKenna, pastor, who officiated with the ring service before a gathering of 300 relatives and friends.

To the swelling chorus of the Lohengrin Wedding Chorus played on the organ by the Rev. Fr. Clifford, the bridal party proceeded to the altar, which was beautifully banked with ferns, palms and a wide variety of flowers, and lighted candelabras, formed indeed a most fitting background.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white satin, made with long shirred sleeves and fitted bodice, with long full skirt, an "acre" full, embroidered veil with cap caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. A gold ring worn by her grandmother on her wedding day, was the only ornament. She carried a bouquet of white bride's roses and valley lilies tied with a large bow of white silk maline with numerous small streamers with lilies of fern being attached. The bride's sister, Laura DeJane as maid of honor, was attired in a yellow silk gown made on the principle of lines, with full waist and full skirt tied with a "ree" rainbow sash. Her head dress was a large black velvet picture hat. She carried a bouquet of the elegant Talisman rose combined with lunaria. George Klein, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

The bride's mother was attired in a black and white flowered chiffon made with long uneven hemline, while the groom's mother was charming in blue georgette, made on the same style.

Following a congratulatory period, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Covers were laid for 75 guests at tables beautifully decorated in tones of silver and gold, in keeping with the wedding appointments. The bridal table, with the bouquets forming the centerpiece, and silver bowls and candle holders containing gold tapers, had places arranged for 12. The various side tables placed in the dining room, were nicely arranged, corresponding with the main table in their color scheme.

The bride who is a talented pianist, is a graduate of Westminster Conservatory of Music at New Wilmington in the class of '23 and since that time has taught in this city. The groom is associated with his father in business at Enon Valley.

Late in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Conway left for an extended Eastern motor trip, and upon their return will reside with the latter's parents for the present. For traveling, the bride wore a black ensemble with egg-shell trimmings and accessories to match. There have been a number of entertainments in honor of Mrs. Conway before her marriage, and a magnificent collection of gifts have been received by the young couple testifying to the esteem and affection in which they were held.

Guests were present from Cleveland, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Erie, Enon Valley and Youngstown, Ohio.

Fox Reunion.

J. B. Fox of Ray street has returned home after attending the annual Fox reunion near Kittanning, Pa. Mr. Fox was the only member of the family from New Castle who attended.

Sixty were there and everyone had a fine time. Seven brothers and a sister, the oldest being 77 years and the youngest 56, were all present at the gathering.

On a recent evening at the home of W. A. Humble on the Pulaski road, a group of friends gathered for a corn and wieners roast. A general social time followed.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Depp and daughters, Lillian, Beverly and Nita, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rodgers and children, Elizabeth Ann and son Billy, Mrs. J. Gaston and children, Shirley and Jack, James Huble, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Humble and daughters Elizabeth and Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Depp who reside in Punksutawney, were the only out of town guests.

Section F Meets

Section F of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church met Friday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Flewkins, Warren avenue, with Mrs. Frank Majors as associate hostess.

The devotionals were led by Mrs. Roy Zeigler and after a brief business session the remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner. Mrs. Fullerton pleased with several piano numbers and at a late hour the hostess served refreshments.

Birthday Surprise

A number of friends of Isadore Rose, 140 Park avenue, gathered at his home Monday evening to pay him a surprise on the occasion of his birthday. The evening was spent in cards and music, and at a late hour delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. Rose.

Present as guests besides the honor guest and his wife were J. L. Maxwell, A. B. Fauzey, C. L. Springer, George C. Nolte, Robert Maxwell, C. E. Lamison and C. W. Herman Hess.

Who Can Kill This Army?
Bad For Kansas And Maine.
These Ladies Seem Fat.
The Rockefeller Homestead.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

ARMY WORMS (cads), have you met them? They appear on your lawn newly sown, not thousands, but millions of them.

Traveling like an army, eating, as they travel.
A learned scientist from the New Jersey agricultural department says you can get rid of them by sprinkling lime and arsenic on the grass, but that will kill birds. And birds of all kinds come in great numbers to eat the worms and you cannot deliberately poison them. Deer tracks show that you might also poison deer.

The expert says the worms will disappear after a little while, but that isn't enough comfort.

CANNOT CHEMISTS, perhaps those in the big oil company laboratories, discover something inexpensive that will kill army worms, without killing birds or deer?

Mr. Rockefeller's chemists created an insect and fly destroyer that does not harm children in the house. Why not an army worm destroyer that won't harm birds or deer?

Those worms probably breathe through small holes in their sides, or in some such queer way. Cannot Mr. Teague, Mr. Kingsbury, or the over-shadowing Detering produce a spray applied under great pressure to the infested area, that would clog the worms' breathing apparatus, without injuring vegetation too much?

THE HUNTING of the modern "snake" which is the Eighteenth Amendment, proceeds along lines carefully planned. The chief snake hunters are Alfred E. Smith, John J. Raskob, Dwight W. Morrow, Federal Prosecutor Tuttle, Gov. Roosevelt, who will fight for the governorship this fall, and Dr. Butler, head of Columbia University.

They are agreed on one thing that might disturb the iron-bound prohibition states.

Each state would decide about prohibition within its borders, with the national government controlling transportation, keeping liquor out of states that do not want it.

This would mean concentration of bootlegging crime energies on prohibition states and freedom from bootlegging in so-called "liberal cities" like New York and Chicago.

If all the bootleggers of those two cities alone were concentrated on

LABOR
It doesn't just happen that someone is plucky. Though others may speak of a winner as lucky. The fact still remains. That success demands brains.

It doesn't just happen that someone is clever. All skill is acquired; man is born with it never. Who rises at last. Has worked hard in the past.

It doesn't just happen that someone has knowledge. Some learn themselves, and some miss it at college. This fact still is so: Men must labor to know.

Luck cannot make wise men, or clean men or strong men. Or brilliant successes of drifting-along men. Who comes to renown. Has worked hard for his crown. (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

Further Safeguards Urged To Check Hurricane Peril

Latest Caribbean Disturbance Is Declared One Of Worst But Radio And Accurate Study Of Weather Are Shown To Have Reduced Losses

The great destruction following the hurricane in Santo Domingo has stimulated a search for efficient methods by which the damage done by these storms may be reduced. It is pointed out that radio communication and development of weather bureau methods have been effective in avoiding distress, and increase in study of the subject is advocated as a public duty.

"It sometimes seems as if it had been decreed that the sunlit regions about the Caribbean sea should be the permanent home of turmoil and disaster," says the ZANESVILLE SIGNAL.

"This is especially true of the island that is the home of the Dominican republic." The hurricane is the embodiment of the threat that perpetually hangs over the West Indies; the final curse of the people who live about the lovely Caribbean." The COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL sees in the storm the "destructive powers, peculiarly their own, causing the public to shudder with horror as one is reported."

"An equinoctial storm does its devil's dance," avers the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, emphasizing "the great toll in life and property" when spiraling winds "go howling over the Caribbean sea and set their teeth in those sea mountains called the Antilles," where "desolation ensues."

The result is described by that paper as "this latest tragedy of Nature."

The HAMILTON, ONT. SPECTATOR declares: "With all our boasted scientific advance, humanity is pitifully helpless in the face of Nature in an angry mood. The tropical hurricane is just as devastating today as ever it was; those who are caught in its path perish. But the advance of civilization can be shown in one way, at least—in the rescue of sufferers. Those who live in safer climes show their gratitude by responding to the cry of distress. This is the common task of humanity."

Quoting a Marine Corps aviator, who said of Santo Domingo, "It is as if a giant had crushed the town like a toy, and then had strided the pieces with a stick," the HAVERHILL GAZETTE adds: "And the hurricane, awful spawn of the Caribbean, was such a monster. Before it, beneath it, the works of man were as futile as the ant hill beneath your feet, and life, to its might, as trifling as an insect's existence."

Although "there isn't anything the weather bureau or anybody else can do to head off the hurricane or to moderate its fury," the DULUTH HERALD recognizes that its nature makes it possible for the weather bureau to forecast its coming with great accuracy, and even to route its path and send warnings wherever it is booked to do."

Of the effect of this work, the HARTFORD TIMES voices the judgment: "The bureau has the duty of watching the temper by means of telegraphic and radio reports, and warning vessels and communities in its path, a service which oftentimes saves many lives and much property. Even from the advantage of knowing where it is and where it has been, predicting the future course of a hurricane is not always easy."

The wisest meteorologist can do no more than state the probabilities."

Recognizing successful efforts "to prevent ships from sailing or steaming into the storm zone," the FORT WAYNE NEWS SENTINEL recalls that "in comparatively recent times, without the advantages offered by the science, the people on other islands, the sailors at sea, and even the inhabitants of our own eastern coast would have had little warning of the approach of the hurricane, and would not have heard of Santo Domingo's fate for weeks."

So completely reliable is the service of the weather bureau, says the LEXINGTON LEADER, "that shipping is enabled to find safe harbor as a rule, or runs around the storm center. The first sign of a hurricane is noted, its force and direction are known, its probable course is marked, and warning are broadcast. Since the advent of radio communications the shipping world has a position of much greater advantage than before. Yet it is possible that storms may occur in the future such as the memorable one of 1780 which destroyed two fleets with all on board while it was in what seemed safe anchorage. Man can do nothing to prevent these disturbances but science has done much to mitigate the evils attendant upon them. Florida is not only building against them but is now so fully informed about their movements that in the future there will not be the same damaging results should hurricanes strike the coast."

The recent storm is ranked by the BOSTON DAILY NEWS as one of the major catastrophes of its kind in this hemisphere in the present generation, as a calamity which "will mean impoverishment for thousands of people."

The OGDEN STANDARD-EXAMINER declares that "not until disaster such as this destruction presents itself, do we realize how kindly nature deals with this part of the world," and the TORONTO DAILY STAR comments: "Every now and then we are reminded by far-away disaster that one of the many advantages of life here is the freedom from cyclonic and seismic disturbances."

The danger of flimsy construction in places subject to such visitations is pointed out by the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, while the PROVIDENCE BULLETIN, observing that the stricken city "is a tangle of ruins and wreckage," believes that "the damage in the back country must be proportionately great and the sufferings of the poor natives terrible."

That paper continues: "Fortunately modern science, if it cannot prevent the mighty disturbance of the elements, can at least mitigate the severity of its aftermath by the use of the airplane to rush supplies and relief."

"Their misfortunes stir into action those humanitarian impulses which prove, in the time of disaster, the kinship of peoples," says the OAKLAND TRIBUNE. The SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS makes the suggestion as to remedies: Meteorological records show that severe hurricanes occur in the West Indies every two or three years. It therefore would be well to arrange for maintaining a few large transport planes, equipped for relief work in Caribbean and Gulf regions. Such ships could be employed by the Red Cross and other organizations for various tasks, and this service would help promote a better understanding among the new world's peoples."

"It would seem," advises the FORT WORTH RECORD-TELEGRAM, "that the natural reaction of a race of super-producers, such as Americans, would need but one disaster of the magnitude of the present one to cause an immediate equipment of the Red Cross with a reserve fund that would assure succor to the victims of whatever the future might produce."

HOBSEN'S CHOICE

Pitt the Younger, a member of Parliament during the days of the Revolutionary War, was opposed to the policy which King George III. put into effect against the colonists. One day, in the course of a parliamentary discussion in the House of Lords, Pitt made the statement, "King George has not the brains of an ass."

Immediately there were cries of "Treason." "Make him apologize." "Make him recant his statement."

Pitt rose to his feet, and while the assembly looked on breathlessly, he said, "I retract my statement, King George III. has the brains of an ass."

You wish you had some of the money-making traits of some of your friends.

In your opinion you must be like them to succeed.

But when you strive to follow their methods, you realize that you are not thinking in just the same way, and you make a failure trying to copy methods.

So you give up trying. Don't try to win out by the route of another.

Get all the facts in the case and think out a way more characteristic of yourself and consequently understandable to yourself.

Few minds track exactly the same way. You think you know your successful friend's method.

But you don't—not in its entirety—and he could not tell what to do.

Perhaps he has an uncanny judgment. Subconsciously he arrives at conclusions and works things out.

You only see the surface results and cannot see the steps of thought.

There is always a little something not accounted for when you try to do exactly as another has done for a goal.

You have ability and hard work is what you need not a constant watching of the other fellow to try to solve his methods.

Jack Diamond Is Held In Custody In Philadelphia

No Specific Charges Placed Against Former Bodyguard To Late Arnold Rothstein

WILL BE GIVEN FREEDOM TODAY

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Jack (Legs) Diamond, New York racketeer king and one time bodyguard to Arnold Rothstein, was to appear in court today on charges of being a suspicious character. Philadelphia authorities said they wanted to hold him for New York authorities.

New York police later advised that "he did not want" Diamond, but police here said they would bring him into court anyway. Diamond was in jail only a short time on the suspicious person charge, however, gaining his freedom upon a copy of the charge. The erstwhile bodyguard of the late Arnold Rothstein was to be arraigned at 10 o'clock this morning.

Will Be Discharged

Due to the inability of local authorities to find any one who wants Diamond or to unearth any pressing charge against him, it was believed that he would be discharged following a hearing before Magistrate Edward Holland.

Diamond, who arrived here yesterday with a boatload of canaries on a freighter after he was deported from Germany, blamed newspapermen for his troubles. He said reporters made "such a fuss" about his arrival in Europe, where he had come for his health, that German authorities finally arrested him.

"Nobody wants me and I don't see why I can't be left alone," said the dapper New York racketeer, while he was being put through the annoying routine of having his photograph and fingerprints taken by police.

Diamond Not Worried

Diamond was not much worried about his being detained here and predicted he would be released when he appeared in court today.

Diamond's booking, however, recalled the manner in which Philadelphia welcomed Al Capone, the Chicago gang leader, in May, 1929, when he was picked up in a theatre and sent to prison for ten months for carrying a pistol.

The New Yorker, however, police said, was searched carefully, but was found to carry no weapons and he cannot face exactly the same fate as Capone.

Police said that New York authorities were sending detectives here to question Diamond but that his arrest on New York charges was not contemplated.

Frank Brocato of Rouseville, Pa., charged with a serious offense by Andy Russo in behalf of his wife, Orabela Russo, was found not guilty of the charge before Judge James A. Chambers Monday afternoon. The case had been continued over from last week.

The case was one of the most peculiar tried in the Lawrence county courts in some time, Brocato being the father-in-law of Andy Russo's brother, and most of the witnesses called in the case were related to either the complainant or the defendant.

It was charged by the defense that the case was the result of spite work.

STORIES OF STARVING or half-fed Russian workers are not confirmed by photographs of young Russian women, unloading heavy logs from boats in the Volga region.

These powerful young Russian females, 16 to 25 years old, carrying on their shoulders logs weighing 100 pounds and more, laughing as they work.

Their legs seem to be about 16 to 18 inches around the calf; their shoulders and hips are wide.

Young Russians are told that Russia belongs to them, whereas their fathers were told it belonged to the Czar and the nobles, and they, the pheasants, were only cattle. That accounts for some of their cheerfulness.

The next generation, produced by young women of this log-carrying sort, will not consist of weaklings.

But profit now interests the Rockefeller as little as salt water interests a sailor.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has been for the last four years, changing the old farm to a settlement of modern, inexpensive houses for smaller business men, executives and workers.

ON THE FARM now are four blocks of 81 private houses, designed by Andrew J. Thomas, who built the Metropolitan Life model dwelling for Mr. Ecker, and subsequently the model tenements in New York for Mr. Rockefeller. Several millions have been spent. The project completed, will cost $75,000,000.

Mr. Rockefeller adds to the value of his good example, by emphasizing the fact that it is common sense business, not charity. The houses are expected to earn interest on the investment, a fact that means nothing to the Rockefeller, father or son, but will interest others in similar, useful work.

When it can be shown that a thing can be made simultaneously useful and profitable, many will follow the leader.

MR. ECKER produced admirable apartments, at rents extremely moderate; rents then pay 8 per cent on the investment of his policyholders, and has hundreds on the tenants waiting list.

ALL THIS will awaken mixed emotions in the single tax bosom.

They think nobody should own land. But if Loboz owned it who would build wisely? Surely not grafting municipal governments. And can you imagine the graft if city government owned all the city real estate?

ALL THE EXCITEMENT about short sell of wheat in our market by Russia turns out to be unnecessary. Somebody, evidently, was seeking an excuse for falling prices.

Every day Chicago Board of Trade in the course of where speculation buys and sells fifty to sixty million bushels of wheat.

In the course of nine months Russia agents sold five million bushels as part of a "hedging operation" familiar to all board members. Such petty sales over a long period could not possibly affect prices.

A Russian representative observes aply.

"We buy two hundred and fifty million dollars worth of your goods and there is no investigation. We sell a few bushels of wheat and you investigate us."

Youth Held On Manslaughter Charge

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 23.—A verdict of manslaughter was returned against Paul Danko, Jr., 18, by a coroner's jury following an inquest into the death of William Cleaver, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Cleaver of Centerville. It was alleged that Danko threw a stone which struck the Cleaver lad as the latter passed along the highway with a group of Boy Scouts.

Old Dobbin had his little faults, but he didn't run out on oats and quit cold five miles from home.

Striking Dog Costs Driver $25 And Costs

GREENVILLE, Pa., Sept. 23.—Striking a dog cost Charles A. Hinshaw of Sheikleyville $25 and costs when he was arrested before Squire John A. McKay on a charge made by Stanley Shipton, owner of the dog which Hinshaw is alleged to have maimed with his car on the Greenville-Hadley road.

After striking the dog it is claimed that Hinshaw ignored Shipton's orders to stop. Shipton gave chase in his car, obtained the number of the car which injured the dog and preferred charges against Hinshaw.

SEVERAL PLAN TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Make Good Resolutions For School

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

If you who are high school students could live for about two weeks 25 years in the future and then bring yourself back to where you are this autumn, beginning the new school year, these are some of the resolutions you would make and strive to carry through:

I will develop in myself regular habits of study so that my school work will be successful and so that when the school year ends, I will be proud of my achievements. When others of my gang waste their time and boast about it I shall quietly go on with my eyes upon the future.

I will do my home study each evening before bedtime. I know how easy it is to entertain my friends on evenings and to go out; but if I am going to measure up to what I expect of myself I must put my studies first.

I know how easy it is to fool around in the evening before going to work and how easy it is to put off assignments from evening to evening and week to week. I will set myself to study by the clock and I am going to make myself hand in every piece of written work on the date announced by the teacher. It will make me happier to do so; for to have unfinished tasks hanging over one for hours and days is very annoying. To be prompt will also further my success at school.

I want to earn my self-respect. Therefore I will make it a habit to do my own work and not be a parasite on some other pupil copying his work and handing it in as my own. I can easily fool the teacher but I cannot fool myself. I want myself to think well of me; to be proud of me, indeed. When I run away from my own jobs I am a coward; when I hand in work I did not do myself

I am a thief. I hate thieves and

I will make good use of my time in the recitation period. If I keep my eyes and ears open I can make my learning easier and cut down my study time. I must train myself not to daydream but to keep my attention on what is going on in class.

When I leave class I will measure my success not by my luck when called upon by the teacher, but by the number of questions asked and problems put by the teacher which I could have answered accurately or solved correctly.

I will work for habits of accuracy and precision for I know it will pay saving me from future errors and annoyance and helping me to work with greater ease and speed.

I will cultivate good speech and good writing so that I can be happy, can be more likable and can find more opportunities to succeed as I grow older.

I will make up my mind about my vocation, learning all I can about the several things which appeal to me, and then set my heart and soul on one of them.

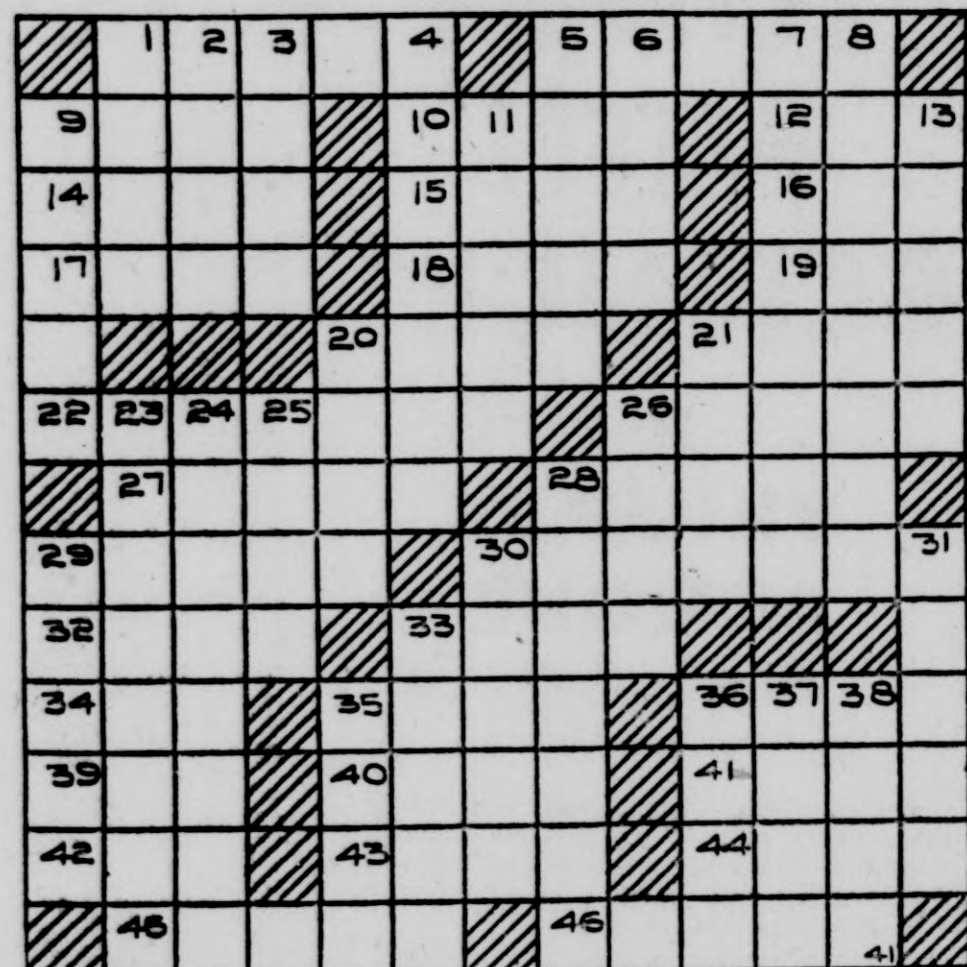

I will engage in one of several school sports, learn some group games and activities, join a club or two at school, acquire some accomplishments, which will make my leisure hours more enjoyable, and learn to mingle happily with groups of pupils during recreation hours.

I will set myself to some good reading, learning to enjoy the best, reading some aloud in order to enrich my vocabulary and have more things to talk about.

I will take care of my health, get enough sleep and out-of-door recreation and eat proper food.

I will try to live an honest upright life so that when I grow to manhood or womanhood I will be fit to marry have a home and rear a family, seeing my life recreated through other lives even richer and more useful than my own.

Peter's Adventures

by FLORENCE VINCENT

FOR GRASSHOPPER'S SAKE

Peter looked upon that which once had been a gay grasshopper skipping nimbly in the meadow, and turned from the feast.

"I hope you'll excuse me!" remarked the boy politely to Busy. "Excuse me? What for?" demanded that worker ant. "You haven't done anything to offend me!" "No, but I may when I leave the banquet hall?"

"Without having anything to eat?" Busy was dumfounded. Peter nodded. "Not a mouthful!" Peter was emphatic. "You see, Busy, I once knew a grasshopper—the jolliest, kindest fellow I ever met—and for his sake, if for nothing else, I shouldn't relish feasting on his relative. But don't let me take you away from your meal. I'll wait for you right outside the door."

"You're not going to leave this room until I go with you!" chuckled Busy. "Out of my sight you might get into trouble. I'm not hungry, anyhow. I had a late breakfast. Up and onward. Follow me, boy, and with good luck we'll arrive at the nursery yet."

"These eggs are a confounded nuisance!" exclaimed Peter, as usual speaking before he thought, and as he felt one of the precious bundles slipping. "Where are the nurseries? Far away?" "Not very, in the vaulted chambers above," answered Busy. "Do you see that open door to your left? Well, we go through that and along the gallery straight to the egg room. Watch you step and be sure you keep close to me or trouble may befall you!"

5 Ft. 6 In.	151 "
5 Ft. 7 In.	155 "
5 Ft. 8 In.	159 "
5 Ft. 9 In.	163 "

Weights given include ordinary indoor clothing.

If you are overweight cut out pies, pastries, cakes and candy for 4 weeks—then weigh yourself—go light on potatoes, rice, butter, cream and sugar—eat lean meat—chicken, fish, salads, green vegetables and fruit.

Take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—This is the easy, safe and sensible way to take off fat—an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks—get it at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any drug store in the world. You'll be gloriously alive—vigorous and viracious in 4 weeks.

Haste, Noise Will Induce Indigestion

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
How to have indigestion.

There are several good ways. None necessarily depend on what kind or mixture of food you eat.

First, be sure to go to a restaurant that is crowded. There you can have a fight with the waiter about your table. That will dry up all your digestive juices. Or somebody will spill something on you, giving you acute dilatation of the stomach. Besides, there will be a band. It will play very loud so you can't hear or speak, and you will have to yell everything at your fellow diner. This will take off your digestive tract and let the poor thing drift off itself.

Or if you are going to eat at home, don't let the opportunity go by just before dinner, to have a little fight with junior or the wife, preferably, about money. Then get the radio to work and turn it on very loud while you are eating, so you get the full benefit of the brass during the jazz numbers and can hear auto distinctly when the speaker says:

"This is National Cancer Prevention week. If you have a lump in the breast, no matter if you are a woman or a man, go immediately to your doctor (or if you can't get him, seek an officer of the National Cancer Prevention Society of which I am one.)"

This will sort of fix you, liver and pancreas so they will lay down the shovel and the pick and go to work for several hours.

Then, right in the middle of the meal course, you might jump up and go to the telephone. Call up somebody about some business deal, but preferably call up where it is likely you will get some bad news.

Then get the paper again and look over the neighbor hood movie list. Decide to hurry through dinner so you can get to the first show. Get very excited about it, but still be rest of the meal, bustle the family through with their meals, run around and get all your thin's together, get in the car and buzz the horn a few minutes to let the family know you are in a hurry. When they are all buddled in the car shoot off as fast as you can.

After that you can turn the rest over to nature. You have done your part.

Amateur Medical Advice Dangerous Says Dr. Appel

AMATEUR MEDICAL

"Advice is about the cheapest commodity on the market. One has but to hint that he has some money to invest and there will be any number of amateur bankers offering all sorts of suggestions as to its proper disposition. Faith in the other fellow which after all is the basis of civilization, is so general that oft' times persons fail to apply a discriminating judgment to the financial ideas thus offered and find their hard earned money lost as a direct consequence. That is quite bad enough. But when the amateur healer gives advice which is headed a real calamity frequently results," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"It is a peculiar quirk in man's mental make-up which gives ready ear and prompt action to the thousand and one ideas of the non-professionals, who so readily suggest this and that for conditions concerning which they know absolutely nothing."

As a case in point, a funeral was the other day the direct result of following the poulticing idea of a neighbor for an acute attack of appendicitis. By the time the physician arrived, several days too late, the patient was dying.

"If one is foolish enough to follow the unenlightened suggestions of kind friends as to how to dispose of their money, the worst that can happen is the loss of one's capital, which with work can sometimes be recouped. But once, life is lost or health permanently impaired, that is absolutely the end of it."

"It should be realized that never in man's history has medical science been so accurate and effective as it is today. But it must be given its chance, and promptly, to do its work if good is to be derived from it."

Therefore, admire your friends, thank them for their advice on whatever subject, but follow only the doctor's orders when it comes to disease or wounds. Matters of that kind are strictly the physician's business, and just as strictly the nobody else's business."

Sullivan Trial Started Monday

Six Jurors Are Chosen Late Monday Afternoon In Judge Chambers' Court

Eugene Sullivan, charged with manslaughter, in connection with the death of A. J. Nader on July 24, went on trial before Judge James A. Chambers in court room No. 2 late Monday afternoon.

Although the case was not called for trial until about 4 o'clock, good progress was made in the selection of a jury, and by the time court adjourned at 5:15, six jurors had been chosen.

Those selected were: Ernest King, R. F. D. No. 7; H. C. Young, Bessemer; Thomas J. McNeil, Ellwood City; Cecelia Daugherty, 922 South Jefferson street; Samuel W. Leonard, Euclid avenue, and Mrs. Margaret Wagner, second ward.

The defense used up a number of their peremptory challenges and indications pointed to the fact that the work of selecting the remainder of the jury would occupy but a short time this morning, after which the taking of testimony would be started. Sullivan is charged with striking Nader with his fist during an argument at the Commodore restaurant owned by Nader on West Washington street on July 24, Nader dying in the hospital several hours later from a fractured skull. He had been knocked to the street, striking his head against the sidewalk and fracturing his skull.

Pittsburgh Police Will Bring Back Alleged Slayer

John Kirk, Alleged Slayer And Kidnapper Waives Extradition In Tennessee

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Detectives were to leave here today for Nashville, Tenn., to bring back John Kirk, alleged holdup man and kidnapper wanted here in connection with the murder of Anthony Wisniewski, alleged gangster who was slain on New Year's day.

Kirk, local authorities said, disappeared from the automobile in which four bandits fled from a roadhouse holdup. Wisniewski was later found in the machine, a bullet through his head.

Police arrested Joseph Dowling and Paul Smith two days as they started to leave the city. Both men are now serving terms in Western Penitentiary. They declared the shooting was accidental and implicated Kirk.

Both men were implicated in the kidnapping of Betty Selfert who was forcibly taken from her companion in River View Park. The girl identified both men during the trial.

Kirk was waived extradition, police said.

Crowd Of Young Teachers Will Ride Wednesday

Horseback Riding Becoming Popular With Public School Instructors

Twenty teachers of the New Castle schools are planning to take riding lessons at Troop F stables, Scotland Lane on Wednesday evening. For many of the young women this will be their first try at horse back riding. If they like it they plan to organize a class of fifteen or more teachers and have regular weekly riding classes.

Horse back riding is gaining great popularity in New Castle, especially among the women. Many riders who have been taking lessons during the summer at Troop F have become adept at the sport and have been spending some of their time practicing rough riding and jumping.

Local Man Subject Of An Editorial

In the current issue of Equitable Agency Items, M. J. Donnelly of this city, leading personal producer of the Equitable Life Assurance society, is the subject of an editorial, which pays him a tribute for his ability as a life insurance salesman.

It goes on to quote the fact that in the past 193 consecutive weeks, in spite of unfavorable business conditions for a considerable part of the time, that he has written at least two and often as many as four and five individual applications each of these weeks. In the past 20 months he has also written group insurance to the amount of $3,353,000. He is acclaimed in the editorial as an inspiring example of a man who is willing to apply his talents to a beneficial institution like life insurance.

Bishop Rogers Prelate Of Ohio

Bishop Rogers Selected Upon Death Of Bishop William A. Leonard

Phipps, Giver Of Millions, Dies; Carnegie's Aid

Rose From Office Boy To Partner As He Began Steel Career

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Henry Phipps, whose rise from shoemaker's son to multi-millionaire ironmaster, paralleled the career of the late Andrew Carnegie, his friend and associate, died Monday at his home, Bonny Brink, at Great Neck, Long Island, in his 91st year.

Since retirement from business in 1901 Phipps devoted himself to philanthropic activities. He gave millions to health and welfare activities in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York.

He was born in Philadelphia in 1839, but when six went with his family to Allegheny City, now a part of Pittsburgh.

During his school days Henry formed lasting friendship with the Carnegie brothers, Andrew and Thomas M.

After working in a jewelry store and selling newspapers, at 17 he inserted in a newspaper an advertisement announcing that a "willing lad wants work." It led to his employment by Dillworth & Bidwell, dealers in iron and spikes. He started as office boy, but five years later became a partner of Bidwell.

Meanwhile he became a silent partner in the iron manufacturing firm of Kloman & Phipps. Reorganization of the business brought Thomas M. Carnegie in as a partner. This was the entrance of the Carnegie brothers into the iron business. Soon afterward a new company, the Union Iron Mills, was organized with Andrew Carnegie.

When assets of the Carnegie Steel Co. were sold to the United States Steel Corporation in 1901 Phipps retired to devote himself to philanthropy.

Rubber Tile

The ideal floor where silence and good looks are essential. A rubber tile floor is practically noiseless and has all the beauty of marble. This floor can be installed for one-third to one-fourth the cost of marble and will give longer wear. Also furnished for table and counter tops.

Rubber Asphaltum Tile

This floor is very attractive and can be installed at a much lower cost than rubber. Laid in tile form it is not affected by moisture and can be used with success in basements.

Battleship and Inlaid Linoleum

This floor needs no introduction, as we have installed thousands of yards in various buildings in New Castle. A good selection of patterns in stock at all times.

NO JOB TOO LARGE OR NONE TOO SMALL

Below we mention a few of our larger installations:

New Castle Schools	60,000 sq. ft.	Meadville City Hospital	2,700 sq. ft.
Westminster College	20,000 sq. ft.	First U. P. Church	22,500 sq. ft.
Slippery Rock State Teachers' College	10,000 sq. ft.	Pennsylvania Power Company	12,000 sq. ft.

BICYCLE STOLEN FROM SIDE PORCH

Report was made to the police Monday that the bicycle of George Stitzinger, 414 Boyles avenue, had been stolen from a side porch on the Stitzinger home some time previous to noon Monday. The bicycle stolen is a Deluxe, red and white in color, and had the initials G. K. S. on the rear mud guard.

Name Principals For Consistory Production "Odds"

New Castle Talent To Be Well Represented On October 1 And 2

The musical comedy "Odds" to be presented at the Cathedral, October 1st and 2nd, sponsored by the service division of the Consistory in their annual production and personally directed by Carroll D. Kearns, offers one of the greatest combinations of New Castle's talent ever to be presented in a local production.

"Odds" is a musical comedy of a different type, offering a most excellent plot, wonderful dramatic climax, beautiful music, splendid comedy, perfect routines and four part ensemble singing, all appearing in gorgeous costumes with settings that would do justice to a Shubert or Dillingham production. The first act of "Odds" takes place in the massive stable of Colonel Hartley's estate at Lipton Downs, Maryland. It is a most unique setting and the Jubilee appearing in this act offers the superb entertainment for theatre goers. While the second act finds the setting at the famous Lipton Downs race track which carries through the plot until the time the annual Derby is run with Black Joy, Colonel Hartley's prize three-year old and ridden by his daughter, Peggy, the victor.

Annual Picnic At State School
Special To The News
SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Sept. 23.—Students of the health education department of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College enjoyed their annual picnic at Straub's Beach Tuesday evening. About 150 young men and women went to the beach at five o'clock and after swimming and a program of sports, enjoyed a beach roast.

Wedding Occurs At Pittsburgh

New Castle Man Is Groom In Notable Ceremony At Pittsburgh

Marriage of H. J. Habib, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Habib of 110 South Jefferson street, and Miss Josephine Coury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Coury of 2025 Wightman St., Squirrel Hill, Pittsburgh, which was an event of Thursday, September 18th, in Pittsburgh, was one of the outstanding events in Syrian circles of this section of the country for some time past and attracted hundreds of relatives and friends of the contracting parties from all parts of the country.

The ceremony took place in St. Ann's Syrian Church, Pittsburgh, following the arrival in Pittsburgh of the bridegroom and a large entourage of friends and relatives in highly decorated cars from this city, at the home of the bride, where a reception and social time was accorded the bridegroom and bride-elect prior to the ceremony. Here were hundreds of relatives and friends of the principals in the affair and singing, dancing and other festivities took place.

Following the reception, the entire party in some thirty five cars and escorted by state officers proceeded to St. Ann's church, where the marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of hundreds of people who filled the church.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Monsignor Elias Hayek of St. Maroon's church, Youngstown and Rev. Elias Basil, pastor of St. Ann's church.

The bridal couple was attended by John Roshwan of Youngstown, best man, and Miss Edna Gury, of Pittsburgh, as bridesmaid, four flower girls and four young men and a boy and girl bearing the ring.

Following the nuptial mass in which the marriage ceremony took place, the bridal couple proceeded from the church, where they were showered with rice. The entire group, then proceeded through the city of Pittsburgh escorted to the city line by state police officers, in the highly decorated cars and came to this city.

At the home of the groom's parents in accordance with the custom of the Syrian people, they were showered again with rice and money, after which a wedding dinner was served in a nearby restaurant, which had been taken over for the occasion. Several hundred people participated in this event. From there the entire group proceeded later in the evening to Humbert First Hall on Division St., where the jollification and celebration in connection with the wedding, continued from Thursday night through to Sunday evening, with dancing, singing and various forms of merry making.

Relatives and friends in attendance at the celebration were many hundred in numbers and came from Sharon, Warren, Youngstown, Alliance, Detroit, Trenton, N. J., Boston, Mass., and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Habib are American born, the former being associated with his father in business in this city. Mr. Habib is highly educated having studied extensively in universities of Europe and speaking fluently in French, Syrian and English. He is also an accomplished artist. Mrs. Habib is also highly educated and is widely known and respected in Pittsburgh.

They will reside at 110 South Jefferson street for the present.

Italy And France Fail To Agree On Disarmament Act

(International News Service)
GENEVA, Sept. 23.—Reports of an absolute breakdown in disarmament negotiations between France and Italy were circulated in the league of Nations corridors during the lunch hour today, following unsuccessful conferences which lasted all morning.

The breakdown was believed due to Italy's unflinching demand for equal parity with France. An official communique outlining the situation was expected later in the day.

Sealer of weights and measures for the city and county today announced that the coal dealers' license plates for 1931 had been received and would be available when needed by the dealers.

He also issued warning to such persons who are engaged in the selling and delivery of coal and have not yet taken out their 1930 licenses to do so at once if they wish to avoid trouble and an expensive fine. No person may engage in the business here who has not been licensed. The licenses are obtainable from Mr. Brown, the sealer of weights and measures.

Over Hundred Guests At Big Bowery Party

Between 130 and 140 Apaches and bowery maids had a big party Monday night in an improvised French cabaret.

To all appearances the Apaches and bowery girls were the real thing and the French cabaret was the genuine bonafide Paris product, but those in the know were not fooled by outward appearance of things. They knew that the senior high school girls were up to something and that the cabaret was in reality the gymnasium of the local Y. W. C. A.

Oh it was a jolly party and something new in the annals of the Girl Reserve Department of the Y. W. C. A. Guests were senior Girl Reserves and all high school girls who are interested in joining the club.

The gymnasium was decorated most profusely and it looked more "cabaret like" than a real cabaret. There were small tables along the walls, upon which were candles stuck in the necks of old broken bottles and jugs.

Jack O' Lanterns dangled from the ceiling, casting weird lights. Over at one end was the "bar" where punch and pretzels were served. Guests were dressed in rough looking outfits and acted their parts to perfection.

Apache dances, bowery hops, songs and stunts were given by a number of the girls. Real talent was shown in each presentation.

Julia Sidley led the toy symphony orchestra in a number of delightful and strictly unique tunes. Dorothy Cain, Roselyn Freeman, Grace Jones and Grace Lowers were in charge of the party.

SYNOD OF WEST IN SESSION HERE; NAME MODERATOR

with the sermon, taking as his subject "Lengthen Thy Days and Strengthen Thy Stakes" from Isaiah 54:2, and said: "The appeal of this message was not confined to the time it was spoken alone but has come down through the ages and comes as a challenge to the Christians of today and shall find fulfillment in a kingdom when Christ alone shall have dominion and when every tongue shall confess his Lordship."

"The appeal is twofold, an appeal for extension, expansion and aggressive endeavor on the part of the church to ground itself more firmly and to strengthen the foundations of the Christian religion. The kingdom of God is the most far-reaching thing in the universe if the plans of God are carried out. Christ has entrusted the advancement of the church to us and expects us to advance with the material world. Great strides have been made in every material realm and to keep the equilibrium the church must advance in proportion. Thomas Edison, when asked recently what the next great invention in science would be, replied that there would be no more advance to any extent along scientific lines until there was a spiritual advancement to keep step with it, and after the same manner Calvin Coolidge expressed the idea that "Unless the forces of life are kept balanced, disaster will come and unless we carry on the spiritual work in the same greatness that has been done in the scientific and material realms, we will fall into decay," and cited the Roman empire as an example. He went on to say that today we must think of the sacrifice of Christ on the cross and carry on the work of Him.

In strengthening the stakes we must see to the foundation that it is properly placed; we must lengthen and strengthen; we must broaden and deepen and have fruitage and rootage and look well to the moorings individually and as a church, if the kingdom of God is to advance with the world and not fall into decay. It is up to the ministers to instill this idea into their congregations and have them go forward with the work.

Following the moderators' sermon the synod was constituted, the report made of the delegates present and then the election of officers took place with the result that Rev. Clarence Johnson of the Prospect and Mt. Chestnut churches of the Butler presbytery was elected moderator for the coming year; Rev. W. E. Guthrie of Connoquessing church, Butler presbytery, was selected as vice moderator; the committee on delegate fund and leave of absence selected included Rev. H. W. the program committee, then submitted the program for the present session, which was accepted by the synod. The new moderator, Rev. Clarence Johnson, then took charge of the meeting, thanking the synod for their confidence in him as a leader for the organization and asked their cooperation throughout the year.

Speakers Introduced.

Rev. Johnson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. Harris E. Kirke, D. D., of Baltimore, Md., who, although the first time before the First Synod of the West, is well known throughout the United Presbyterian denominations as a preacher of note and a worker for the church having been moderator of the general assembly.

Dr. Kirke greeted the audience and said he was pleased to follow Dr. McCartney's address and was pleased that the "Holy Spirit" was the theme of the session.

His address was addressed mainly to the ministers and the part they play in furthering the kingdom of God. He announced his subject as being "The Life of Thoughtful Stillness"; a life which is hard to lead in our American cities, which are made up mostly of noises of various sorts; but he said things that are accomplished in this world are done by men who can take a period of thoughtful stillness in order to rest their mind, body and soul.

He further stated that each man has two soul sides, one to show to the world and the other for himself alone, when he communes with himself and God in private, bringing to the forefront the Holy Spirit, as it is a fundamental which is so often neglected; the apostolic attitude is power conscious here the modern attitude is problem conscious and here he admonished the ministers not to bring their problems before their congregations, that each person had plenty of problems of their own without hearing them from the pulpit, where they had come for a soul refreshing.

"Come Ye Apart into the Desert and Rest a While" was what Jesus said to his disciples when they were worn and weary from the strife and toil of a hard day and thus it is today with the ministers, and with every one, take a time to rest from the worries of the world and search into the deepest mysteries of the spiritual life.

One of the laws of nature is rhythm, the nights follow day, the day follows night, the plants sleep as does a person, there is an ebb in the sea, the tide flows and ebbs, the heart at intervals has a period of quiescence and even the swiftest of moving things are susceptible to the law of rhythm; all inanimate things being subject to the laws of nature; advancing to animal life, the activity is due to instinct but the rest period is learned by experience; a pigeon will fly when it is released, but it topples on its head when it first tries to alight; aviators find it an easy matter to leave the ground, but quite serious to get back to earth and make a landing; the reason in all things is important: the art of resting and landing quietly in only learned by experience.

Man's life of self determination is much along the same line, he must learn how to break the period of strife and labor and enter into the quiet place, for a rest; the people of the United States are so apt to ignore this side of life! noise, bustle and hustle seems to predominate; whereas the Orientals stress the rest period and take things quietly and the United States must come to the period where they realize the philosophy of mixing with their activity a period of rest in order to keep their mental equilibrium. He said a great deal of Psychological sickness has spread over this country, not alone among the older people but it has invaded the younger members of society and the greatest contributing factor is fatigue; taking up the various kinds of fatigue, he mentioned the healthy fatigue, which come from a day of toil and business, when one comes home in the evening to an easy chair and rest; there is also the mental fatigue of the preacher, and the brain worker, when he turns to lighter things for recreation, but the fatigue that is damaging our folks today is the emotional fatigue, which allows no rest or period of quiet of any kind but at the end of the day instead of seeking a period to recuperate one's losses of the day, it drives one on to further activities and more fatigue, leaving one like a bargain counter at the end of a busy day, with no satisfaction of any kind.

It is this mental and moral disturbance that is worrying our young people of today and their attitude toward the organized church is a problem which must be faced: their urgent questions attack a normal mind which is stabilized by convictions and can be allayed but when the mind is in a state of turmoil and emotional fatigue the questions become a menace. The portentous fact is the fear of future not only among the laymen but among the teachers. It is this fear that so often drives them from the work of the church into other channels of work and creates the restlessness and change of denominations so frequent among the clergy.

The root of this restlessness lies in: neglect of the period of rest and introspection and in conclusion Dr. Kirke urged the clergy as well as others to take a period by themselves, when they enter into their prayer closet, alone with God and seek the recuperation from the fatigue of the world which so harasses the mind and he gave them the words of Isaiah 50:4 "The Lord God hath given me the tongue of the learner that should know how to speak a word in season to him that is weary" and put this before the ministers as a good lesson to follow in dealing with their congregations. Bring peace and rest to their souls, when they come for words of comfort and give them the picture of a Saviour whom they can stand in awe of and give the impulse to fall down on their knees and worship.

Closing Announce

Dr. C. J. Williamson then announced the arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates and directed them to the various rooms of the church, which have been attractively fixed for the comfort of the visiting delegates, prayer rooms and rest rooms being provided.

The session this morning began at 9 o'clock with luncheon in the church at noon, dinner this evening, followed by the evening session at which time Rev. George A. Buttrick, D. D. of New York will deliver the main address.

The session will close with the Wednesday morning session at which time Col. Raymond Robins of New York City will be the speaker at 10:15.

This morning's session of the synod meeting being held in Highland United Presbyterian church was taken up with reports for the most part of the various boards of the synod. The devotionals were led by Rev. John T. Aiken, whose theme was "The Power of the Holy Spirit" taken from John 16:8-11.

The speaker of the morning was Rev. George A. Buttrick, D. D. of New York City, pastor of the Madison avenue church, who has spoken before this synod a number of times and whose messages are always looked forward to with interest.

He took for his theme "It Is Expected For You That I Go Away" and said in part: "It is hard to believe that it was better for Jesus to go away from his disciples on this earth but there are three reasons that show it was better: first, by going farther away he comes nearer to us in spirit; second, by going out of sight, he becomes clearer in our minds; third, by going away he gave the 'fringe of glory' to our life. It is the unseen things we grope after that bring the glory to our lives; the striving to attain our goal that puts enthusiasm into our efforts. If Lindbergh could have, in advance, seen his safe landing in Paris, the glory would have been taken out of the trip, for the uncertainty it is that adds glory to our lives."

"Much as we know about heaven it is still a mystery, it is the mystery of what adds the glory to our striving to obtain a place in the heavenly kingdom. Behind the mystery of heaven is a heart of love and this heart of love is Jesus Christ."

Business Taken Up. Rev. J. H. Rose, D. D., synodical superintendent, gave his report to the synod; Rev. E. W. Burris, D. D., reported for the board of ministerial pensions and relief; Rev. J. H. White, D. D., gave the report of the board of administration, and President W. Charles Wallace gave a report of Westminster college at New Wilmington and what ambitions and improvements they hoped to make there. He greeted the members of the synod, saying that New Wilmington felt it was a part of New Castle and wanted to be included in the New Castle district in their greetings and entertainment of the delegates.

These reports brought the morning session to a close after which the ladies of the church served luncheon in the church dining room.

Afternoon Session.

The program to be carried out at the afternoon and evening sessions today are as follows:

1:30—Devotional service, Rev. H. P. Smith. Theme, "The Presence of the Holy Spirit," John 14:16-17.

3:40—Recess for committee meetings.
4:10—Pittsburgh Xenia seminary and board of publication, Rev. John McNaughton, D. D., L. L. D.
4:40—Business.
5:00—Adjournment.

Tuesday Evening.

7:30—Devotional service, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight. Theme, "The People of the Holy Spirit," Acts 5:32.
7:50—Business.
8:00—Special music.
8:10—Address, Dr. Buttrick.
8:30—Announcements.

Wednesday Session.

The session will be brought to a close with the Wednesday morning session when all business left over from the preceding sessions will be taken care of and the speaker of the morning will be the famous millionaire reformer, Col. Raymond Robins of New York City, who will speak on "The Constitution—Shall We Scrap It." These sessions are all open to the public and it is expected the church will have a capacity audience at this evening's and Wednesday morning's sessions.

Dry Administrators Visit In Pittsburgh

Colonel Woodcock And John D. Pennington Make Inspection Tour Today

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Colonel A. W. Woodcock of Washington, national director of prohibition, and Commander John D. Pennington of Philadelphia, administrator of the Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey area, were in Pittsburgh today on an inspection tour.

The trip here is part of Woodcock's tour throughout the east and middle west. It was Pennington's first visit here since he was transferred to Philadelphia several months ago.

Most of the day was to be spent hearing reports from prohibition administrators here and visiting government, state, county and city representatives.

Woodcock and Pennington were to leave for Harrisburg tonight and tomorrow they are scheduled to confer with state police officials there. Visits will also be made to Lewisburg, Scranton, Newark, Trenton, Wilmington and Dover.

Colored Man Is Slashed About Face

County Detective H. Martin Lee and Constable A. S. Leslie on answering a call late last night to the New Castle Junction district, found that Joe Watson, colored section hand of the Baltimore and Ohio, had been severely slashed about the face by another colored man. The cutting had occurred in the vicinity of the Junction and along the West Pittsburgh road.

Watson was rushed to the New Castle hospital, where quite a number of stitches had to be taken in a cut on his chin. He said a man named Frank had cut him with a razor.

At noon today Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch located Frank Scott and his wife on Mahoning avenue and the former admitted doing the cutting. They were taken into custody. Watson declined to make an information against Scott, who claimed that Watson had insulted his wife, and they were released. The Scotts reside on the West Pittsburgh road.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD U. S. CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

Photographs of action during the recent "rough riding" exhibitions at the drill field were taken by Lieut. Payne of Sharon, who promised to send several films to the troop.

Earl Thompson, representing the Rotary club, is the newest to join the civilian's committee. A representative of the chamber of commerce is expected to be named shortly. It is planned to have each organization in the city a member of the civilian groups. Talks by Louis B. Round and Dr. W. Fulton Jackson before the Rotarians at the Monday luncheon meeting resulted in the naming of Thompson as a member of the committee.

Supplies of paint, gun patches and oil have been received at the armory.

Extra saddle equipment for use during the exhibitions of riding by Sergt. Miller's stunt riders on the program of Armistice Day is awaited, the cavalry instructor said today.

Sergeants Pollock and Stewart, and Private Shay will form the human hurdles in the stunts of the "rough riders." The complete program for the event will be announced shortly by Sergt. Miller.

Ten were present at the instruction period for non-commissioned officers at the armory 40-day evening. Instructions and details on forthcoming drills were led by Sergt. Miller and Lieutenants Reed and Mitchell.

It's a pretty good country that has three million men who won't take jobs as snoopers.

Five Blooms And Bud On South Side Cereus

Reports of buds and blooms on Night Blooming Cereus plants have been coming in from the North Hill district and the East side of the city and now it is found that there is at least one plant in bloom in the South side.

About 15 years ago, Catherine Matthews, of 1511 Hamilton street, was given two small slips of a Night

Blooming Cereus. She planted them and today she has a large plant five feet tall which has bloomed every summer for five years.

Monday night the fifth blossom opened. It was a spectacle of beauty and measured eight inches across. There is one more bud to open, making six lovely blossoms since the middle of August.

Unknown Friend Writes Poem To Miss Harvard

Among the many interesting letters received by Sue Harvard, New Castle's nightingale who comes to the Cathedral, September 30, in a benefit recital for the Jameson Memorial hospital, is a poem written by an unknown friend. Miss Harvard is the soprano soloist of Marble Collegiate Church in New York, and is the highest paid church soloist in the United States.

Inspired by the sweetness of her voice, the unknown poet voiced his appreciation in verse. The poem follows:

The Soprano of the Marble Collegiate Church

Have you heard the bluebird's song with its sweet, and melodious ring.

A message that winter is over and a harbinger of spring?

Have you heard the meadow-lark warble on a quiet summer day Over hills and green fields as from some tree he sings his roundelay?

Have you heard the robin red-breast cheerily whistle in the fall.

His farewell songs for the season ere he leaves for his southern call?

Or, the yellow winged canary as from his cage his notes he trills

From sweet and low beginners to the heights of his rapturous thrills?

These, and various other feathered songsters, doubtless you have heard.

But would you hear their charming music in a human voice superb.

To hear the silvery tones of which even the birds would leave their perch?

Then come, list to the Soprano of the Marble Collegiate Church.

While the organ sounds the prelude to some inspiring hymn of prayer.

In her choir 'place she rises with a serene and graceful air.

And her countenance illumines as it reflects the soul within.

And bespeaks the beauty of the solo she's about to begin.

For in calm and peaceful tones her clear and earnest words gently rise

Till they soar aloft in grandeur and seem to reach unto the skies;

And you feel a sacred touch as from her lips they joyfully go

Like rippling of cool waters as from a pure spring, through brook they flow

While the theme slowly concludes with a gentleness of falling dew.

You will like to know what her name is, well, her Christian name is Sue.

But neither Yale, nor Penn, nor Princeton or Brown, her surname can claim.

For it's the one that gave to Cambridge town its glory and its fame.

Yea, both Vassar and Wellesley, or Columbia's sister school, Barnard.

Might well be proud of such daughters as our Soprano, Sue Harvard.

QUESTION: Is it possible to obtain credit in the purchase of this fuel?

ANSWER: We, the members of the New Castle Merchants Association, are the originators of the coal for cash policy which is enabling New Castle families to save thousands of dollars in their future winter fuel bill.

You are invited to avail yourself to the double economy of this peerless domestic coal plus the economy of our coal-for-cash. Phone us today.

Crust of Dandruff quickly dissolved!

It's so Easy! Make Scalp Healthy; Give Hair New Lustre and Vigor!

One after another a million men and women have made this discovery for themselves, that this simple method does dissolve the crust of dandruff, put the scalp back into the pink of condition; make the hair soft, lustrous, thick and vigorous.

Why experiment? The example of this great multitude of people points the way to the quick, sure way to be rid of dandruff and the many hair worries it causes.

Get a bottle of Danderine from your drug or toilet counter today. Put a little on your brush each time you dress your hair. Penetrating to the head, its soothing and soon has an itching, feverish scalp cool, comfortable, healthy. The crust of dandruff simply melts away.

Dandruff is unsightly; and it is the proven cause of premature grayness; baldness; dry, brittle, dull hair. When the scalp is free from this irritating scurf, Danderine soon has the hair back in condition; soft, glossy, thick and abundant.

Start on Danderine today and end hair worries. A thirty-five cent bottle is enough to demonstrate its remarkable merit.

"SEA WOLF"Chicago Man Is Swindle VictimAncient Wire-Tapping Game
Used By Pittsburgh Men
To Obtain $30,000RACE TIPS FAIL
TO BRING RESULTS(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—The swindling of Samuel Spitzer, middle-aged Chicago broker, to the tune of $30,000 through an antiquated wiretapping game was revealed today when the Chicago man appealed to police here to round up the confidence men.Because the luxurious offices opened by the gang in a downtown office building were rented and furnished by men unaware they were being employed by a crooked mob, detectives said there was little hope of recovering Spitzer's money.
The scheme originated in Chicago where one of the gang ingratiated himself with a relative of Spitzer and told the relative of a scheme to "beat the races" that would enrich a man willing to invest a few thousand dollars. The relative introduced Spitzer who came to Pittsburgh.Spitzer was taken to the "brokerage office" of "F. R. Strauss," where he was told that Strauss could obtain the results of races at least eight minutes before pool rooms or book makers and that Strauss could place Spitzer's bets with other bookmak-ers. A telegraph instrument in the office pointed out "Staccato" race results during the interview.Allowed to Win On two fake advance tips, Spitzer was allowed to "win" $1,000. He returned to Chicago and came back with $30,000 to invest.Last Thursday he spread the $30,- 000 on three race tips. Just as he was about to hear from the "telegraph operator" that all three horses had won, the office was "raided" by two men claiming to be policemen.
Spitzer was hustled out by members of the gang who promised to meet him in Chicago in two days and deliver the winnings. The rendezvous was kept by Spitzer, alone.Plan To Organize

Fruit and Pure Cane Sugar
Are So Cheap NowThe abundance of luscious fruits in the market now, and pure cane sugar at an unheard-of low price, give every housewife the opportunity to put up a wide variety of preserves, jellies and jams at a most reasonable cost. With these home-canned delicacies on hand, the problem of next winter's fruit desserts can be most inexpensively solved.From the viewpoint of health, canned fruit, jellies and jams should appear daily in the winter diet. Canned fruits are rich in vitamins. Their flavor pleases the appetite, and their sugar content helps to balance the meal.Aside from eating jelly or jam with bread or toast, they are a delicious accompaniment for roast meats and other dishes. And a spoonful used to top rice or bread puddings makes these nourishing desserts more taste-appealing.As pure cane sugar plays an important part in preserving, so it is equally essential in the preparation of every-day meals. Pure cane sugar when used to season canned or fresh vegetables improves their flavor, thereby making them more enjoyable to the taste. Most foods are more delicious with pure cane sugar. The Sugar Institute.Enter the National Canning Contest, an automobile parked along a public road at a late hour of the night, with the lights out, constitutes the offense of disorderly conduct, at least as the term "disorderly conduct" is defined in an ordinance under which a recent arrest was made in Butler township.

This is the decision reached by Judge James O. Campbell in an opinion handed down in the matter of Francis Callahan. Butler youth and plaintiff in error, against the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.Callahan, another young man and two girls, none of whose names appear in the papers involved in the case, were recently apprehended by township officers along a public highway, and charged with disorderly conduct. All but Callahan paid their fines, and were perfectly willing to let it go at that, but no so young Callahan, who appealed from Justice Mitchell Suchy's court in Lyndora, threatening, according to the authorities, he would not pay the fine imposed.By reason of the decision of the higher court, the young man will be required to pay the fine and costs.Local Musicians Will

Mysterious Blast Damages Buildings In Suburban Town

Three Hurlled From Beds At Brentwood, Pittsburgh Suburban Town By Blast

VACANT HOUSE IS PUT INTO RUINS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 23.—Three persons were hurled from their beds early today when a mysterious explosion wrecked a vacant brick dwelling in Brentwood, a suburb, and caused fire which destroyed an adjacent home, also vacant, according to police.
Nearby houses were rocked by the force of the blast and residents in the vicinity were awakened, many fleeing from their homes in terror. Ignatz Zadinski and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sigal were knocked from their beds. None was injured.
Firemen, called to the scene, were seriously handicapped in fighting the blaze which, when they arrived, had turned the frame dwelling into a seething inferno, the nearest fire plug was 2,000 feet away, they reported.
Police, said they were unable to find the cause of the blast. Residents of the district said both houses had been vacant for more than two years.
In searching the ruins of the brick dwelling, Fire Captain Michael Brown reported finding a five-gallon can which apparently had contained gasoline or kerosene.
Describing the explosion, Mrs. Sigal said:
"I didn't know what had happened. I was thrown from bed and saw a sudden flash. The house rocked and I thought lightning must have struck it. Then I thought it must have been an earthquake."
Other residents told similar stories. Damage was not estimated.

Honor New Pastor At New Bedford

Rev. John Orr And Family Given Reception; Other New Bedford Notes

NEW BEDFORD, Sept. 23.—Members of the Presbyterian church gathered Friday evening at the church to honor their new pastor and family, Rev. John Orr. The evening hours were pleasantly spent with various games. Later in the evening friends were invited to the dining room where tables were effectively decorated in tones of pink and white many beautiful flowers being used profusely. Samuel Shields acted as toastmaster. Splendid addresses were given by Rev. Holmes and wife of West Middlesex, Rev. Charles Moore and wife of Zelkople and Rev. John Orr. Paul Shields superintendent of the Sunday school, Elizabeth Ropp, president of the Christian Endeavor Society and Mrs. J. J. Shields, president of the Missionary Society welcomed Rev. Orr and family to the departments of the church.

Supreme Court Has Four Cases Listed From Mercer County

Cases On Appeal At High Tribunal Which Meets This Month In Pittsburgh

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 23.—Secretary of State Clarence Brown arrived here last night to take personal charge of the investigation into the irregularities of the Mahoning County Board of Elections.

Brown indicated that he would take no action in the dismissal of the election board tonight. He conferred with Prosecutor Ray L. Thomas, J. J. Farrell, Democratic county chairman, and W. P. Barnum, Republican county chairman.

Brown Takes Charge Of Youngstown Fraud Probe

The election board was suspended by Brown Friday, after the grand jury had returned indictments against five persons including the election board clerk and two of its members.

Meanwhile the grand jury continued its investigation this afternoon with Joseph E. Jones, former board member, and Ben Jenkins, former deputy sheriff, appearing. Additional vote fraud indictments are foreseen.

Will Use 1700 Voting Machines

Machines Are Being Installed In Many Parts Of Pennsylvania

According to a recent compilation of figures, it has been ascertained that approximately 1,700 voting machines will be employed in the forthcoming general election, Tuesday November 4, in various communities of this Commonwealth.

Of this large allotment of machines, 500 have been allocated to Philadelphia, 155 Luzerne County, 330 Lackawanna County, 310 Delaware County, 41 Mercer County and 40 Erie County. The remaining number of balloters will be utilized in scattered cities, towns and villages thru out the state.

Delaware county recently allied itself with the counties and cities that have become converted to the system of mechanical balloting in that the commissioners of this county recently awarded a contract for 310 machines at an estimated cost of $45,000 to one of the voting machine manufacturers.

Last week a voting machine was demonstrated at the New Castle Dry Goods store by Wilber White. It is planned to station the machine in strategic centers of the city before election so that the voters may become acquainted with the advantages and operation.

The annual election of the American Legion to be held this evening at the Home, will be conducted on the machine.

TELLS CANNON OF RESENTMENT

(International News Service)
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 23.—Bishop Horace M. Dubose, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today had made public the contents of a letter to Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in which he advised him that a "supreme official sacrifice" was necessary to satisfy resentment in the church against him.

The letter, copies of which were mailed on August 18 to all bishops of the church, advised Bishop Cannon that feeling was strong in the church against him because of his purported stock market dealings as well as questions which arose during his questioning by the United States Senate in relation to the use of political funds in Virginia in the 1928 and 1930 campaigns.

As a result of charges by four elders of the church Bishop Cannon is facing the second inquiry in five months in connection with his political life and reputed stock market activities.

The new charges, sent to Bishop William Ainsworth, at Birmingham, Ala., will probably result in an investigation at Charlotte, N. C., in December when the College of Bishops meets, according to Bishop Ainsworth. He refused to reveal the content of the charges filed against the Washington, D. C., clergyman.

"I feel that I should be lacking in loyalty to you, and the episcopacy, and the church if I failed to advise you of the existence of the distressing feeling in the church." Bishop Dubose's letter to Bishop Cannon read.

Misunderstanding Is Caused By Big Blaze Near Chemical Plant

Watchman's Call Interpreted That Fire Alarm Box Wiring Was Destroyed

A misunderstanding following receipt by the fire department of a telephone alarm from the Grasselli Chemical Company of Pennsylvania,

Sampson street extension, late Monday night, caused belief that wiring to the plant's private fire alarm system had been destroyed.

Firemen from Central and No. 6 stations who made a hurried trip to the huge plant in the sixth ward, discovered that a huge rubbish pile on a dump on Sampson street, outside of the chemical works property was rearing its flames high into the sky.

A telephone alarm at 11:10 p. m. from Thomas McClintock, watchman, informed the department that flames were endangering high power lines near the chemical plant. At Central station a misunderstanding occurred, firemen believing the flames had already gotten well under way within the plant and had destroyed the wires to Box 68, the plant's alarm box.

Two hundred and fifty feet of hose were laid from the company hydrant to extinguish the rubbish fire. No damage to the company's property was reported.

Says Woman Fought And Bit Him During Sale At Her Store

Constable John Miller Tells Of His Experience At Store Of Rose Ambrosia

Rose Ambrosia, charged with aggravated assault and battery on Constable John Miller, was placed on trial before Judge Hildebrand in court this morning. There was also a charge of obstructing a legal process on one count of the indictment, but this was quashed.

Testimony for the commonwealth showed that on August 8th Constable Miller went to the store of the defendant to sell her goods on execution. Defendant is alleged to have struck him with a club. Miller continued on with the sale, and while he was selling a cash register, Rose is alleged to have thrown some object at his head.

Miller then told her that she was under arrest for breach of the peace. While she was being taken to his automobile she fought with him and bit him, according to Miller. Rose was taken before Alderman Mantz where an information was made against her.

Water Company Will Spend $6,000 Making Service Line Change

Mains And Service Lines Will Be Re-Located To Conform With City Plans

While the city is planning changes in the sewer system on North street and Butler avenue where extensive construction work has been in progress for days, the City of New Castle Water company is continually changing its own plans to conform with the city requirements. H. B. Richard, superintendent of the Water company said today.

The company will spend approximately $6,000 to participate in the city improvements. The project that requires the placing of storm and sanitary sewers and repaving on North street and on Butler avenue will be responsible for the work of new main water lines and water service lines.

Richard said 2,700 feet of mains will be required along with the changing of 120 service lines to the homes on the streets affected by the changes. On the North street job the six-inch lines are being replaced with 12-inch lines due to the sewer changes. The Water company is employing 20 men to make the changes.

Build Addition To School Gymnasium

Work In Progress At Slippery Rock State Teachers' College

(Special To The News)

Slippery Rock, Pa., Sept. 23.—Work on the addition to the gymnasium of Slippery Rock State Teachers' college is well under way and a corps of workmen are rushing construction in order to get the building under roof by cold weather if possible. The foundation for the annex, and the concrete basin for the swimming pool are in and the superstructure is being started.

When completed the addition will represent an investment of approximately $150,000.00. Added to the present gymnasium it will give Slippery Rock one of the most modern plants of its kind in this section and will materially aid the work in health education, which is featured at Slippery Rock.

The plans for the addition are the work of W. G. Eckles Co., architects of New Castle, while the general contract has been awarded to A. Wishart Sons company of Sharon. The plumbing is being done by William Clark of New Castle.

With an enrollment of about 800, the present gymnasium, large as it is, has been inadequate and the addition was decided upon. It will front on Kiester road and is located just a short distance from the Administration building.

Will Present Two American Flags

Ladies' Adult Classes To Receive Awards At Convention
Friday

There will be two American Flags presented to the Ladies' Adult classes having the best attendance at the New Castle district, Sabbath School Convention which will be held at the First Baptist Church, Friday, September 26th, at the afternoon session which starts at 2 p. m. One flag will be awarded to the Ladies' Adult class of the church having the largest number present. The second flag will be awarded to the class having the best percentage of attendance present and this will naturally favor the small classes, as it would not be a hard matter for a class having ten or twelve enrolled to have one hundred per cent. This will give both the small classes and the large classes an equal opportunity to win an award and will be fair to both the large classes and the "small" classes.

At the afternoon session an address will be given by Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church and Mrs. Mary Harker Jones of Sharon will explain the new international standards. There will be reports and conferences as well.

At the evening session Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will give some interesting sidelights on his recent trip to the Holy Land as it pertains to the Bible and there will also be special music by the choir of the First Baptist church under the leadership of John W. Owens.

Hunt Delmore In Dry Agent Slaying

Federal Authorities Join Search For Alleged Slayer Of Finiello

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Federal authorities joined in the search today for Nicholas Delmore, prominent in the beer racket of Northern Jersey, in connection with the slaying of John G. Finiello, Philadelphia prohibition agent in the Rising Sun Brewery at Elizabeth, N. J., last week.

The names of Mickey Duffy, Camden beer baron and Max Hassel, formerly known as the millionaire newsboy of Reading, Pa., have been eliminated from the investigation, officials said, after it was learned they had disposed of the Rising Sun Brewery a few weeks ago.

Delmore was the man, police now charge, who commanded the murder of Finiello. He then raised his own gun and fired four bullets into the victim's body, detectives said.

That survivor of the raiding squad recognized Delmore among the gunmen was revealed by Prosecutor Abe J. David, of Union County, N. J.

Meanwhile as the investigation proceeds, it is indicated that the real motive behind the shooting, lies in a war between rival beer gangs seeking to buy off purchasable agents at $1,000 a week. Certain agents who were on the brewery payroll for that amount went over to rival interests for a still higher stake, it is suspected, thus bringing on gunplay.

Dislocates Arm; Is In Hospital

Tommie Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wallace, of Martin street, who fell from the porch of his home on Saturday and dislocated his elbow, is a little better now and is still in the Jameson Memorial hospital. The lad was unconscious for awhile after the accident. X-rays have failed to reveal any fracture.

Announcement of the listing was made at Erie yesterday following an opinion by Judge Nelson McVicar in which attorney S. Y. Rossiter, Joseph Donovan and Leslie Beals, defendants, were refused opportunity to go to trial this week.

Rossiter, Donovan and Beals were re-indicted at Erie last week on a charge of conspiracy to substitute

James Patrone to appear in court here and accept sentence for Stanley Wells, alleged Canadian bootlegger, on a liquor smuggling charge. Wells also was indicted but is still at liberty.

All Quiet In "Y" Halls As Old Guard Looks To Winter

All is quiet again on the dormitory floors of the Y M C A. Fall has ushered a reign of quiet dignity that is becoming more apparent as the days of summer are left behind. The Old Guard, that group of steady dormitory inhabitants, is again making ready for the rigors of winter.

Fewer faces, not familiar to the night man and regular all-year residents are now hardly noticed in the halls on the second and third floors where the 70 sleeping rooms are located. The usual air of dignity that was lacking throughout the summer hot months is returning and the Old Guard can again gather in the lobby late in the evening to discuss important things without finding someone who is not a "regular" roomer of the building.

Orchestras that played the summer resorts have made their final visits and are not to be seen or heard any more. The crews of magazine salesmen who always say they are working through college are becoming scarcer. Thus far this summer the Old Guard saw the magazine hordes come and go in uninterrupted revivals of the magazines circulation trade in the city.

Today the Old Guard is composed of the salesmen and travelers who have been sent here from their home office. "Soldo" the magician is holding forth in Room 23 and continues to interest the young men with his tricks in magic. Others whose occupations are nearly as interesting are scattered throughout the building.

The summer brought scores of new men. Many came for a night; others for weeks at a time. The Old Guard found themselves rooming on the same floors with young men from practically every state of the union personnel to safety in their record time of three minutes.

The "fire-escape" is a form of "shoot the chute" idea and is tubular in form, three feet in diameter, and made of galvanized steel. There are two of these escapes in the hospital and the tubes run from the second and third floors to the ground in the rear of the hospital.

Describing this unique feature, Superintendent Miss Minnie O. Robbins, said:

"When the gong rings during fire drills four nurses go to the bedside of a patient unable to walk. Each takes a corner of a mattress and they slide the patient down to the ground. The operation from bed to ground taking only a few seconds.

"Nurses and other patients able to walk, slide down the chute without the aid of the mattress.

"In drill practice, a nurse plays the role of patient. The gong rings at various times. No one knows when. The first duty of an incoming nurse is to become acquainted with the method of escape."

Another feature at the hospital is the baby identification known as the "Nursery Name Necklace," bearing the sur-name of the parents of the baby, spelled in beads on a chain sealed on and not removed until the infant is ready to leave.

Teaching And Nursing Leading Occupation Of Members Of Women's Club

School teaching leads the list of the many positions of responsibility held by members of the New Castle Business and Professional Women.

This fact was disclosed by Dr. Mildred Rogers, state president of the B. P. W., at a meeting of the local club last night, when she read a list of the varied types of work being done by the members.

Thirty-eight women of the club are engaged in teaching. Fifteen members are engaged in private and institutional nursing.

According to the list, there are 3 doctors in the club, 2 dental hygienists, 38 teachers, 2 principals, 15 nurses, 1 newspaper woman, 12 store clerks, 4 dress shop owners, 2 librarians, 1 deaconess, 5 bank clerks, 1 photographer, 1 auditor, 2 county officials, 1 cashier, 1 Y. W. C. A. secretary, 5 cafeteria, restaurant and delicatessen workers, 3 welfare workers, 1 Girl Scout director, 4 office clerks, 3 stenographers, 3 secretaries and 9 members at their homes.

Fogarty To Enter Hospital Tomorrow

Local War Veteran Who Is Badly In Need Of Treatment, Gets Recognition

James Fogarty of School street, local World War Veteran who has been ill for some time and badly in need of hospital treatment, will be taken to the U. S. Veterans hospital at Perry Point, Md.

Fogarty has had his application for hospital treatment in the hands of the Veterans Bureau for several months, but there was no room available for the treatment of his particular ailment at the time and only after repeated efforts had been made in his behalf by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, was his case finally given recognition.

M. J. Shortley, regional manager of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, in a letter to the local Red Cross Chapter today, stated that hospital facilities are very poor at present time, all the U. S. Government hospitals being filled to capacity at the present time, with a long list of applicants waiting for treatment. The situation is a most acute one.

Discuss Decision Of Judge Fleming

Tax Collection Law Decision Will Not Affect State Revenue

(From News Bureau) State Capital

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 23.—Decision of Judge Fleming in the Centre county court that the tax collection law passed by the 1929 legislature unconstitutional will not affect the revenues of the Commonwealth. The measure was designed solely for the purpose of reducing the amount of delinquent taxes owed to counties, townships, boroughs and school districts.

The act, which provided that all taxes uncollected by the first Monday in May of each year shall be certified to the county treasurer to sell in August, was passed without protest. It did not have a dissenting vote in either House or Senate. The law also provided for a penalty of one per cent a month.

Few persons realized the law was on the statute books until last year when tax collectors began to certify the names of delinquent property owners to the county treasurers. Many local officials was unfamiliar with the provisions of the measure.

In some sections of the State the tax collection bill became a much discussed question. In Centre and Clearfield counties appeals were taken to the court. The decision of Judge Fleming, however, makes the law valid only in Centre county. Until the Supreme Court passes on the act it will be operative in all counties except where the local courts have ruled on its constitutionality.

Enactment of the tax law entered into the primary election fight in the Clearfield-Centre district. Senator Harry B. Scott, of Phillipsburg, in paid newspaper advertising has defended his vote for the measure in the last primary. He also has gone on record as favoring a law to reduce delinquent taxes and at the same time not impose the penalties of property owners as were provided in the act under fire.

Fine Program For State Convention

Excellent Addresses To Feature State Sabbath School Convention

Those attending the 68th convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, which convenes in Scranton, October 8, 9 and 10, will have a feast of good things in the program provided for them, which is . . . of the strongest programs in Christian Education that any gathering of Sabbath School workers in this state has had the privilege to enjoy.

The delegates from Lawrence Co. will receive accommodation in the good Christian homes of Scranton at the rate of $1.25 for a night's lodging and breakfast. Some will wish to drive through as the scenery is especially beautiful at this time of the year; some will wish to go on the railroad which provides special fare and one half rate, and at the present time an effort is being made to secure a bus load of delegates from Mercer, Lawrence and Beaver counties. This bus would have a large banner on both sides with the wording "On to Scranton for the great Sabbath School Convention, October 8, 9 and 10" and the most beautiful part of the State would be passed through under the leadership of a conductor who is familiar with all the beauty spots of our own state.

Those wishing to go by bus—and by the way, the fare by bus will be less than by train even with the one and one half fare rate—can notify the county secretary, 3660M.

Wednesday's program had been given in a previous issue and the Thursday morning program is as follows:

General session: Elm Park M. E. Church, opened with music and worship with Dr. Rasmussen, Prof. West, Dr. Robinson and Mrs. High.

At 9:30 under the heading of "The Witness of Service by Staff" will be a report of the different departmental superintendents of the State Association.

At 10:10 a. m. an address "The Testimony of Our Stewardship," by Mrs. John E. Person of Williamsport. At 10:40 a. m. "The Testimony of Our Tithes" from both counties and individuals, and at 11:20 the address "The Testimony of a Life" by Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston.

After the adjournment there will be a teacher training luncheon to all teacher training graduates and students.

Milk "Goes To Head" Of Wild Tribesmen

(International News Service) LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Colonial office is not generally regarded as a temple of wit. But maybe because of abnormal heat, or absence of departmental chiefs, a disturbing spot of humor has escaped its portals.

In a very solemn official paper containing the 1929 report of Somaliland priceless information is given regarding the way that milk goes to the head of the Somali tribesman.

It states that during the spring the administration was on the qui vive for internal trouble and inter-sectional fighting—"since it is axiomatic of Somaliland that fighting may be anticipated in direct proportion to the amount of milk available in the villages.

"The young Somali's instinct, as soon as he is well fed, is to go and raid someone, a pasture comparable only to a cup final in London, or more nearly, perhaps, to the Irishmen's Donnybrook fair."

But fortunately, during the past 12 months, despite an ample supply of milk, the tribesmen have remained comparatively peaceful.

AT TIMES WHEN HIS SERVICES WERE NOT IN DEMAND ON HIS FATHER'S FARM, DANIEL BOONE WOULD PLUNGE INTO THE DEPTHS OF THE FOREST WITH HIS BELOVED LONG RIFLE AND SPEND DAYS AT A TIME HUNTING AND PATHFINDING.

Beede Polishes Up Westminster Eleven For Opening Battle

Westminster Meets Edinboro Teachers College In First Game Saturday

Wealth Of Good But Untried Material Will Make Titans Strong

Special To News
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Sept. 23.—With no serious injuries as a result of strenuous scrimmage sessions on Friday and Saturday afternoons, and with a wealth of good but untried material, Coach "Dike" Beede starts this week to taper off his drills for the opening game here Saturday with Edinboro State Teachers' College.

The Westminster squad is in the best physical condition a Titan outfit has been after pre-season work. As a result, Beede has every man on the squad available for the inaugural. More than this, there are some fine reserve players to take the place of the varsity of first-team in case of injury.

The work of Shaffer, Hamas, Haidy, Michaels, Perrin, Bloker, Brown, Harper and Ketterer has stood out in the backfield, and Coach Beede is not certain what four he will select as his starting group. The four who were used most on the "A" team Saturday were Michaels at quarter, Shaffer at left half, Perrin at full, and Hamas at right half. But Haidy also saw service at right half, and Ketterer and Harper were used at quarter and left half.

On the line, Kodick and Rebus look to have won the tackle berth, but Armour, Odell and Dishong, were all used and made little or no difference in the strength of the line. Fuller and Uram seem to have an edge on the guard positions, but Cleveland, Morrison and Ferrari are not to be overlooked. Any one of these six men may get the call to start.

Twedy and Meider may start at end, but Myler, Gebula, and Yord are all pressing them. Captain Russell Boone is almost certain to start at center.

With this array of talent, Beede hopes to fare better than Duquesne and Waynesburg in their opening tilts. At the same time, he wants to get off to a better start than was possible during the last three years when Carnegie Tech was met twice and Fordham once in the inaugural tilts.

Against this "green" Westminster team, Coach "Dike" Harrison of Edinboro, will stack a team composed of 10 veterans and one freshman. The Scarlet and White team, with the same coach and seven of the same players for four years, should be plenty of opposition for the Titans.

Westminster will appear in the opening game dressed in the snappy new uniforms. The white jerseys, with blue collars and shoulders, have two blue stripes on each arm. Backfield men have blue stocken cloth on the jersey fronts. Stockings are also white with two blue stripes. Tan helmets and pants, and black shoes will complete the outfits.

Mushball League Banquet At "Y" On Monday Night

New Castle Mushball League Will Have First Banquet Next Monday

The first banquet of the New Castle Mushball League will be held next Monday night at 6:30 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. dining hall, it was announced today by President Charles Philip Walther.

Tickets are being printed and will be distributed to the managers of the teams for disposal. The price for the banquet is very small. It is hoped that a goodly number of the mushball players of New Castle will turn out. The banquet is also open to all outsiders who care to attend, including followers of the various teams.

A fine menu has been ordered. The handsome trophy cup won by the Wampum team will be presented at the banquet. With just a little effort this first banquet by the league can be made a rousing success. A speaking program will be arranged. "Dutch" Laurell at the First National Bank is taking care of the ticket distribution and the managers are asked to get them from him.

After being laid up for three weeks one fellow says he knows why they call 'em "patients"—The Savannah Morning News.

Slippery Rock Team Furnishes Early Upset; Prepares For Dukes

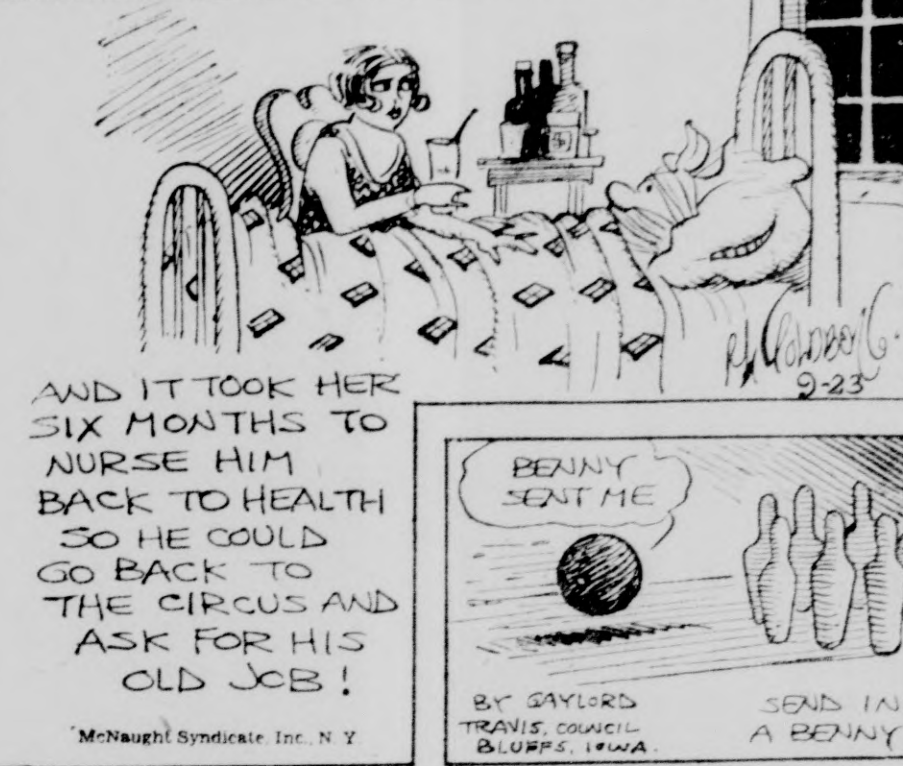

Most of the gentlemen entrusted with the sports destinies of the newspapers in this district lifted a rather quizzical eyebrow last Saturday evening when the result of the Slippery Rock-Waynesburg football tilt was announced. Seven to nothing, with Waynesburg holding the goose egg sounded queer, sounded impossible, in fact, for hadn't the game been listed as a breather for the Green County lads? It had.

Hadn't the dope been that Waynesburg wanted somebody on which to practice for their game next Saturday with Pitt? It had. But football dope has a habit of refusing to jell, and breather games have a habit of turning into breath-takers, and when the tumult and the shouting died, Slippery Rock walked off the field with the first win of the season.

Not a Moral Victory
Nor was this one of those well-known moral victories. There's nothing very moral about defeating a team the way Slippery Rock did Waynesburg. Fact is, it nearly approaches the immoral, depending upon what section your seat is in. Actually the score should have been 21-0 Slippery Rock, for only a very nice old lady known as Fate robbed Slippery Rock of two touchdowns which were signed, sealed and delivered, but because of some rulings didn't count. On the other side of the sheet Waynesburg didn't get close enough to the Pokes' goal line to really say they had sighted land.

A SAD, SAD STORY

Union High Hopes For Good Showing In Ellwood Game

Coach Boyd Sends Union High Team Through Tough Workouts This Week

Gridders Came Out Of Zelenople Game Without Serious Injuries

Not content with the victory over Zelenople, the Union High school football team is working harder than ever this week in preparation for the battle at Ellwood City Saturday afternoon. Coach David Morgan is putting the Union gridders through stiff sessions of scrumming.

Union High desires to make an impressive showing against the big Ellwood High team. The Ellwoodians have scheduled this game for a "warm-up" contest. Union High has other plans. They will try hard to upset the Ellwood team. It will be the opening set for the Ellwood team, while Union has the advantage of having played one game already and against a very good opponent.

On Monday Coach Boyd went over the Zelenople game with the Union squad and pointed out the many weaknesses that cropped up on the offense and defense in the opening game. Coach Boyd seeks to perfect a smoother functioning eleven, one that clicks together. Every department must click at once to be of any value.

In Good Shape
The youngsters came out of the Zelenople game in fairly good condition, due to their physical fitness. Zelenople outweighed the Union team 12 to 40 pounds per man. Jaworski the star quarterback is ailing with an injured back and Coach Boyd is giving him a lot of attention and care hoping that he will be in shape for the game Saturday.

Monico, Union's backfield ace will be able to play against Ellwood City. He did not play in the Zelenople game due to an injured shoulder, regained in scrimmage several days ago. The injury has responded to treatment and Monico is ready to tear them loose.

A short session of tackling, blocking and lots of forward passing will keep the squad busy this afternoon. The boys that did not play last Friday were given a tough workout on Monday afternoon. Several second string men are looking better, and one young man James Denny a backfield bet is looking so good in the scrimmages that he may break into the Ellwood City game. The team will be pushed hard this week to get more driving power in the forward wall.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Bobby Jones, in quest of his fourth major crown this season, set the pace in the national amateur championship tournament at the Marion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa. He led the field with a 69, one stroke ahead of the field in the qualifying play. The defending champion, Jimmy Johnston, was in the main 10-round event. One year ago the Youngstown outfit staged battles and the receipts hovered near the $15,000.

Police of Youngstown will stage boxing bouts Wednesday night to obtain money for their pension fund. Joey Goodman and George Balducci will appear in the main 10-round bout. One year ago the Youngstown outfit staged battles and the receipts hovered near the $15,000.

A big crowd thronged the grounds of the Lexington trot track yesterday when the Grand Circuit meet opened. The feature race, the 2-1-1 trot, purse $5,000 and the Walnut Hall cup, went to Hollywood Chief, who took second in the first heat and then stepped out and took the second and third heats.

The man who manages the Cubs in 1931 must have a winning team whether he be Joe McCarthy, Rogers Hornsby, Charley Grimm or someone else, according to a statement issued by William Wrigley, Jr., owner. Wrigley is set on landing another pennant for the Cubs.

Mickey Solomon, local middleweight is in hard training for his battle with Billy Brent on Friday night at Pittsburgh. Eugene Rocco is also preparing for his fistic set with Tuffy Griffith at Detroit, September 29. The latter battle will give Rocco a chance to land in the lap of the spotlight.

The high spot in the boxing calendar of this week will be the punch party between Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo, Thursday night in Gotham. Johnny Risko and Tom Heeney are singing the praises of the Argentinian but most fans will string along with Sharkey owing to his greater experience.

Billy Rhiel, Portland second baseman, yesterday at Seattle, made the fifth unassisted triple play in the Pacific coast league. With the bases full he caught Taylor's liner, touched second to put out Hansen and beat Ellsworth back to first to retire him. Portland was playing Seattle.

Cards Make Hay In Philadelphia

Cardinals Lambast Lowly Phillies To Retain Lead In National League

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Almost "pulled up" in the stretch, the St. Louis Cardinals today waited another crack at the defenseless Phillies to put an unbreakable toe-hold on the National league bunting. They maintained their two and one half game lead over the Chicago Cubs by walling Philadelphia 15 to 7, while the Bruins continued in the race as far as figures go, by turning back the Boston Braves, 6 to 2.

Wilson Hits Homer.
Mancuso piloted the Redbirds in a hit quest, collecting four of the Cardinals 19 safeties off a quartet of Philly hurlers.

That squat, thick-necked outfielder, Hack Wilson, socked homer No. 53 as the Bruins defeated Boston, while Guy Bush pitched a superb game, allowing only six hits. The Cubs were enroute to Chicago today to open their final series of the season or Thursday against the Cincinnati Reds.

In Brooklyn the battle for third place will be fought with the Robins clashing with the Giants in their 22nd and final game of the year. A victory for New York would put the two clubs in a virtual tie, Brooklyn retaining the technical lead by the margin of a single point.

High Preparing For Grove City

Second Night Battle Of Season At Taggart Field On Friday Evening

GROVE CITY WILL BRING GOOD TEAM

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh of the New Castle High school sent his red and black warriors through their first workout of the week, on Monday afternoon at Taggart Field, in preparation for the second game of the 1930 season. New Castle meets Grove City High on Friday night at Taggart Field.

The workout on Monday was mainly to loosen up. Signal drills and the usual one half hour of calisthenics constituted yesterday's practice. The boys were dismissed at 5:00 o'clock Coach Bridenbaugh will make a strong effort this week to locate weak spots which were demonstrated on last Friday night's game when Corapolis scored its only touchdown of the game.

Captain McAuley who sustained a cut across his right eye while making a run is improving and in a day or so will be ready for the fray again, as will Mike DeCabo who hurt his arm in making a tackle. The remainder of the gridders who saw action in the initial game are in good condition.

Coach Joe Hartman, a former New Castle high school grid star, who is directing athletics at Grove City high, turned his attention to perfecting his team for the encounter with New Castle in the drills this week. The Grove City team opened the season on Saturday afternoon at Erie against the Strong Vincent team and put up a time battle, even though defeated. The score was 19-0.

The game promises to be one of the most interesting on the New Castle schedule of the season.

TO PLAY MIDGETS

Junior Mud Divers beat the Young Eagles 6 to 0 and next Saturday the Mud Divers will play the Oakland Midgets.

Shenango High Will Play Slippery Rock

Two Shenango Men Out Of Game Due To Injuries; First Game Saturday

Shenango high will open its 1930 grid activities on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by meeting Slippery Rock high on the Shenango field. Coach Johnston with two varsity ner out of the lineup will have to use a patched up lineup.

Brown and Domenick are the two gridders out. Brown is suffering with a bad shoulder while Domenick injured his ankle. Coach Johnston sent his gridders through a light workout on Monday afternoon. Shenango high will be outclassed when it comes to weight.

Shenango plays five games this year.

Buccaneers Trim Malizia Eleven, 12-0

Buccaneers football team opened the 1930 grid season by defeating the Malizia Grocers, 12-0.

The game was interesting throughout. This is the sixth year that the Buccaneers have put out a team. In this number of years they have yet to lose a game in 52 contests. They were tied three times but never defeated.

Jones Leads Field In Qualifying For Amateur Open Play

Bobby Jones Shoots Brilliant 69 To Be Leader In Play As Medalist

Dr. O. F. Willing And Sidney Noyes Are One-Stroke Back Of Great Atlantan

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Writer.

SOUTH ARDMORE, Penn., Sept. 23.—If Robert Tyre Jones, the gifted barrister of old Atlanta, doesn't make Lloyd's of London sorry for their audacious 50 to 1 wager against his quadrilateral golf triumph, it won't be because he hasn't got the jump on one of the most indifferent fields that ever competed for a national amateur championship.

The great Atlantan went into the second day of the qualifying business here today with a one stroke lead in all other prospective medalists and of the pair who were a stroke behind him, only one, Dr. O. F. Willing, the gloomy dentist of Portland, had the remotest chance of remaining even with him throughout today's eighteen holes.

Now it generally is admitted that the medalist honors are nothing to push a golfer onward to ultimate match play triumphs, but with Jones it is entirely different. When he is winning medals he is shooting his best golf, since he essentially is the greatest medal player that ever existed a sand trap and since he seems certain of winning this medal he must be playing at the top of his game.

Can't Stand Strain
The Jones man needs only to run along somewhere within striking distance of par today to finish at the top of the heap of contestants for first place among the point for pointers. Dr. Willing is a fine golfer and a destructive match player, but he isn't a capable medal player and Sidney

Noyes, who had a 70 to be the other linkman one stroke behind the great man, is a youngster whose golf simply doesn't warrant two successive days such as Monday.

If now that the great man is certain to qualify and thus save the U. S. G. A. much financial embarrassment, for what would a national amateur or anything else be without the Jones, the real story is in what is going to happen to those hardy young men who are tottering along the verge of oblivion. Today may have a sad story to unfold for a dozen or so golfers who have been accustomed to the purple luxury of assured greatness, provided there is such a gaudy estate in golf.

For instance, there is Charles "Chick" Evans, once the greatest of them all, hovering near the brink with a 79. And there is Jess Guilford, who won one amateur championship and always has been a fine golfer and a blazing good player, at the same figure. And there is Harrison Johnston, the defending champion with his 83. They were a sad and harried lot as they pranced about the first tee today. Uncertain, irritable and no little apprehensive.

Rogers Hornsby Will Be Chicago Manger Replacing McCarthy

Chicago Cubs Decide To Drop Joe McCarthy For Hornsby As 1931 Leader

OWNERS ARE SATISFIED WITH WAY CUBS PERFORMED IN WORLD'S SERIES OF 1929

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Setting at rest a maze of rumors regarding the 1931 management of the Chicago Cubs, owner William Wrigley, Jr. today confirmed the report that Rogers Hornsby is to replace Joe McCarthy as Cubs' manager next year.

Wrigley will give Hornsby a contract for one year or longer, he said. Hornsby's salary in the new job has not yet been ascertained.

Wrigley said he had planned to present the contract to Hornsby when the season closes next Sunday. The action was to have been delayed in order that McCarthy would be spared the embarrassment during the playing season, but the plans of an impending change became generally known beforehand.

No Disagreement.
Arrangements with Hornsby, at present a second baseman for the Chicago Cubs, will be made at once, owner Wrigley announced.

Wrigley insisted there is no personal disagreement between him and McCarthy and said the move was made with the intention of winning another National League pennant next season.

He said he would do everything in his power to procure another managerial berth in the big leagues for McCarthy. Wrigley indicated his dissatisfaction with McCarthy began during the world series last year when the Philadelphia Athletics won the world championship.

The final decision was made late last night, as even late yesterday he was admittedly wavering between Hornsby and Charley Grimm as McCarthy's successor.

McCarthy had managed the Bruins for the past five years.

SLIPPERY ROCK FURNISHES UPSET; PREPARES FOR DUKES

State Teachers' College championship of Pennsylvania and this is no mean honor.

No Football Students

Coach Kerr Thompson has a task every year that would stop many a better known coach. There are no football students at Slippery Rock. For the most part the squad is composed of men who have gone there to become instructors in health education. The squad is never large, the money to prepare them is never ample, but in spite of these difficulties each season sees a creditable team on the field.

Thompson just happens to be a chap who can get the last possible unit of use out of football players. A graduate of Ursinus in the class of 1916, he came to Slippery Rock for a few years and then returned to his alma mater to coach. In 1919 he returned to Slippery Rock and has been there since. With him is E. B. Cottrell, the faculty manager, and when you mention these two you have the coaching staff, the board of strategy, the business department and the executive heads.

Fast Eleven

This year's team is fast and smart. A glance over the weights of the players shows more men under 160 than over, which means that the lack of weight must be compensated by an increase in brain power. It was this brain power, backed by smart coaching, that set Waynesburg last Saturday.

Next Friday night Slippery Rock plays Duquesne, which is nobody's pushover, no matter where you play. Does Coach Thompson think he has a chance against the Dukes? He doesn't know. All he knows is that he has a team of willing workers, who know what to do and if given slightly less than half a chance will do it. They may not beat Duquesne, the hope is they won't, but when the lights are turned out on Forbes field Elmer Layden's Bluffmen will know they have been in a football game.

Only five letter men returned to this year's team. Two of them, Wilson and Miles, are tackles. Ott, the captain, is an end, and the entire backfield is not designed to give many coaches an optimistic outlook on life, but with the same determination that has marked previous years Thompson set about his task and the team speaks for itself.

Nine-Game Schedule

This season's schedule calls for nine games. Waynesburg was the lid lifter, next Friday night the team plays Duquesne at Pittsburgh; October 4th, Clarion at Clarion; October 11, Clarion at Slippery Rock; October 18, St. Francis at Slippery Rock; October 25th, Westminster at New Wilmington; November 1st, Indiana at Indiana; November 8th, Edinboro at Slippery Rock, and the season closes with the strong West Chester State Teachers' College playing at Slippery Rock. The roster of the team, with weights, positions and high schools, follows:

Aird, Jack, 5 ft. 8 in., 150, half, Turtle Creek.

Allen, Curtis, 5 ft. 10 in., 160, center, South Hills.

Bentz, Jack, 5 ft. 9 in., 150, quarter, Peabody, Pittsburgh.

Brown, Paul, 5 ft. 11 in., 185, guard, Beaver.

Burchinal, Malcolm, 5 ft. 11 in., 150, end, Uniontown.

Cataio, Carl, 5 ft. 7 in., 160, full, Fifth avenue high, Pittsburgh.

Capezuto, Anthony, 5 ft. 11 in., 168, center, Bessemer.

Cochrane, Jack, 5 ft. 10 in., 145, end, Washington.

Flister, Edward, 6 ft., 175, guard, Duquesne.

Folmer, Albert, 5 ft. 8 in., 153, end, Adams.

Grant, William, 5 ft. 6 in., 140, end, Oliver.

Gordon, Harold, 5 ft. 4 in., 142, quarter, Scottsdale.

Greiner, Theodore, 5 ft. 7 in., 148, half, Parnassus.

Jenkins, Thomas, 5 ft. 8 in., 150, end, Homestead.

John, Joseph, 5 ft. 10 in., 172, guard, Uniontown.

Kerr, Miller, 5 ft. 9 in., 163, half, New Castle.

SLIPPERY ROCK TEACHERS COLLEGE

team must be reckoned with this year according to notice served on the district Saturday when the scrappy Teachers bested Waynesburg 7 to 0.

In a game that was arranged as a "warm-up" for the "jackets," Westminster meets Slippery Rock on October 25 at New Wilmington. The Slippery Rock team goes to Pittsburgh this week for a game with the Dukes.

Geneva College has nothing soft to brag about this week when they tackle the Bucknell team at Lewisburg. Evidently Howard Harpster has worked wonders with the Geneva boys in his few weeks with them because on the opening date they licked St. Vincent 25 to 0. Bucknell has a fine team this year according to reports and will give the Genevians a real test. Coach Snavely seems to think that the Geneva game is going to be too tough to do much experimenting with and for that reason will have his string lineup ready for the Beaver Falls boys.

Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals easily leads the field for all round ability among the possible contestants at second base in the coming world series. Though there is not much to choose from in the batting percentages, Frisch's batting average of over .340 makes him the favorite over Blair, Bishop and Flowers.

Clarence Blair, the young Texan who jumped into the Cub lineup when Hornsby's injury forced him from the game, is a fine fielder and right from the start, when called to Kimberland, Russell, 5 ft. 10 in., 150, end, Akron, O.

Leshner, Albert, 6 ft., 172, guard, Millertown.
McAninch, Ralph, 5 ft. 10 in., 165, center, Arnold.
McFadden, Elton, 6 ft., 180, tackle, Grove City.
Martin, Clarence, 5 ft. 11 in., 150, center, Sewickley.

Wood, Joseph, 5 ft. 10 in., 160, end, Uniontown.

Indiana's Grid Prospects Are Not So Bright

Coach Page Of Indiana University Faces Season With Only Four Veterans

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 23.—With just two varsity backs and two regular linemen left from an aggregation that succeeded in winning but two out of eight games last fall, Pat Page is gamely struggling to build a football team which will carry the name of Indiana University with some credit through a schedule that is murderous to the extreme.

Forced to book games when and where he could because most conference schools didn't care to play at Bloomington, where the gate receipts will have to stack up his green aggregation against Ohio State, Minnesota, Southern Methodist, Oklahoma Aggies, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Purdue. Only the Oklahoma Aggies and Northwestern contests are to be played on the home field.

As a result of this combination of circumstances, it doesn't look as though this is going to be a "miracle season" for the Hoosiers. Coach Page has a squad that is large in numbers, but aside from a few good prospects here and there, most conference coaches would hardly waste time with a majority of the men.

Material Plentiful

Material is never very plentiful at Indiana, and when sixteen insignia winners depart in one fell swoop, things become doubly difficult.

George Ross, halfback, and Charley Brubaker, quarterback, are the backfield veterans. Both weigh 160 and are playing their third season on the team.

Vic Dauer, 172-pound reserve, and Walter Koenig, another sub from last season, look like the most likely candidates to round out the backfield.

Ed Hughes, who plays fullback in spite of his 174 pounds, Lucien Ashby, 160-pounds, and Emory Parks, also 170 pounds, are other reserves who may win regular posts.

The same lack of weight apparent in the backfield is even more noticeable in the line.

PASTOR LOSES SUIT CASE

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 23.—A suit case containing clothes belonging to Rev. H. W. Haskins, pastor of the Free Methodist and clothing apparel belonging to Mrs. Haskins was lost from their car at some point between Sheffield and Nebraska, Pa., on their return trip from the conference at Sheffield yesterday. The pastor is hopeful that his telegram sent back to a nearby town will bring results.

THIEL COLLEGE STEPS OUT IN THE "BIG TIME"

Thiel College steps out in the "big time" again this Saturday when they go to Philadelphia to play their second engagement with the Temple University team. The Temple boys gave the Lutherans a drubbing last year but Coach Rawley thinks that his boys can give the Temple team a tougher game this season. Several veterans are left at Thiel, together Captain Frank Leonard and they are going to be tough nuts for the Tri-State district teams to crack.

W. AND J. GETS STARTED THIS WEEK

meeting the Bethany Biscuits at the Washington Field. Coach Amos has a fine squad at work and is confident of making a creditable showing this year against Pitt and some of the larger schools. The Presidents snout with from Bethany but not by a large score. It will be the debut of Coach Bill Amos as sole boss of the W and J as he shares coaching honors with Ray Ride last year. The Presidents have Westminster on their schedule for Saturday October 4.

It's tough when a coach finds so many good football players on hand that he can't decide who to use for his varsity team. Coach "Maude" Crum of Allegheny College is in just this predicament. With a half dozen backfield men and all of them equal as good, he finds it tough to choose Garback, Berger and Varano are the sure-starters from all indications but one he'll be back post is a trouble-some matter with several likely look-alikes or divides making spirited bids for varsity status. The most prominent is Anderson from Salem, Mass.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 23.—

A committee consisting of Tad Shields of New Bedford, George B. Wilson and Ray Matlocks, secretary of the board of education of Ellwood City, will meet at the court house in New Castle on October first, to attempt to apportion the indebtedness between the Borough of Ellport and Wayne township. Ellport was formerly part of Wayne township, and has a population of eleven hundred, almost three hundred of these are of school age. The directors of Wayne township and the newly formed borough were unable to come to an agreement in the division of property, hence the above apportionment.

By some technicality the Borough of Ellport will not receive the state appropriation it enjoyed while a part of Wayne township. This situation is causing great embarrassment to the board of education, as it has an indebtedness of over $20,000, with an assessed valuation of less than $400,000. Eight teachers are employed by the borough, and its high school enrollment at the Ellwood school is a serious question, financially.

It is hoped that this distinguished committee may be able to secure its rightful amount of revenue from the state appropriation for this cause.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 23.—

Rev. Harry D. K. Huber, the new pastor of the First Christian church, was speaker at the Kiwanis club meeting in the dining room of the Trinity Lutheran church last night.

The subject discussed was "A True Greatness" which fitted in with the policy of the club, in that he dealt with the fact that greatness was only attained through the service of others. The ideals of the Kiwanis club as well as their aims came in for their share in the address.

Another feature greatly enjoyed at this time was the solo, a parody composed and presented by Rev. Huber entitled, "When Father Takes a Bath." Representatives were at the meeting from Butler club and met with the local inter-club committee concerning an inter-club meeting with the Butler club celebrating Ladies' night at the same time. It was decided at this meeting that the meeting should take place in the Kaufman Hotel in Zelenople, with tentative plans for October 20.

Butler men at the meeting last night were: C. W. Grafton, Capt. J. C. Mauk, Raymond Andre and J. H. Miller.

A number of Kiwanians from the local club are in Erie attending the convention, convening there for three days. On Sunday, Dr. H. S. Helling and G. Charles Cuff, pastor of the A. M. E. church of Ellwood City and his congregation of 29 members are getting ahead in spite of many difficulties in their pathway.

The meeting of conference at Pittsburgh to which Rev. Cuff goes today, lays claim to an assessment of $96 from his small church.

This demand laid upon the hearts of these people until members of several local congregations heard of this predicament and assisted with donations exchanged for services rendered by the pastor. A number of Sunday school classes have contributed as well as church congregations.

A liking for this pastor has sprung up by many Ellwood people who will be pleased should he be returned to the Ellwood church from the conference.

Representatives were at the meeting from Butler club and met with the local inter-club committee concerning an inter-club meeting with the Butler club celebrating Ladies' night at the same time. It was decided at this meeting that the meeting should take place in the Kaufman Hotel in Zelenople, with tentative plans for October 20.

Butler men at the meeting last night were: C. W. Grafton, Capt. J. C. Mauk, Raymond Andre and J. H. Miller.

A number of Kiwanians from the local club are in Erie attending the convention, convening there for three days. On Sunday, Dr. H. S. Helling and G. Blaine Hancher left for Erie on Monday Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McClymonds, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Springer, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Blank motored to the convention and this morning those going were Dr. H. S. Gold and Mrs. Gold, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Carbeau, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Matlocks, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Switzer.

A special session will be set aside for the local club at the banquet in the Lawrence hotel tonight.

Thompson Must List
His Creditors For Benefit Of Court

Former Millionaire Coal Baron Must Show Court List Of Debts Paid

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 23.—Records of J. V. Thompson showing his payments to creditors were to be exhibited in orphans court here today as the contempt of court hearing for the former millionaire coal operator was continued, following orders by the court late yesterday for Thompson to assemble as many records of payments as possible and have them ready for court.

The aged defendant also said that at that time the princess had not asked for the money as he and his niece were on friendly terms. From 1918 to 1925, Thompson said he was forced to borrow $17,000 to pay income tax and other penalties but had had little or no income since that time.

Diamond Chased
From Philadelphia

Jack "Legs" Diamond Cannot Stay In Philadelphia, Magistrate Oswald Says

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23.—Jack "Legs" Diamond, New York gangster, was discharged from police custody by Magistrate Oswald, at a hearing today and given one hour to leave the city.

Diamond and his attorneys promised to leave town within that time. They planned to return to Diamond's native New York.

One of the New York sleuths is quoted as having said to one of the local officers: "We don't want him for any particular thing, but we don't want him in New York under any circumstances. He must move elsewhere."

Diamond, who was deported from Germany, arrived here on the freighter Hanover yesterday and was promptly seized by detectives John Grailey and Al Granitz.

Contractors Hit
Butler Avenue Rock

Woods & Golder are continuing to excavate for a new sanitary sewer and are laying sidewalks in Butler avenue, according to City Engineer F. F. Miller. Repaving is distant as yet.

The engineer said the sewer is complete with the exception of about 75 feet where rock was encountered east of Ray street. After this is done and manholes made sub-grading will commence.

ROAMING
With Richards
Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

It hasn't been so many years since this department can remember when there wasn't a concrete road in, out or beside Harlansburg. The road from New Castle ended where the macadam now ends, and Harlansburg was in the mud to its arm pits in the spring.

What a difference out there now. There are so many connecting concrete roads that it looks like the grand crossing in Chicago where every railroad of any merit enters. There's the road to Slippery Rock, and the Perry highway crossing it east and west. Then there are two leadouts on this side of the Perry, and two more on the other, and then farther on, still another connecting road in case you don't want to go into Harlansburg, on your way in from points north.

Between Elliotts Mills and Plaingrove the road makers are on the job and it won't be long until Plaingrove has a hard road to the outside world. The two year program set down in the spring of 1929 is about completed. Lawrence county has got the roads promised, and you can now make a loop of the county, almost, without ever getting off a hard road.

Rode over to Slippery Rock State Teachers College yesterday afternoon and you might be surprised if you have never seen the plant they have over there. A real educational layout.

Just now the football team is basking in the sunshine of attention for last Saturday the boys hung a fast one on the draperies of the Waynesburg football team. Next Friday night they play Duquesne, which may not be productive of so much attention. But they're going to play them anyway.

They have a nice economical custom at S. R., for the Frosh girls. They have to wear cotton stockings. The lad who thinks they quit making such articles of wear get a surprise on the Slippery Rock campus.

In addition to the cotton hosiery, the Frosh girls have to wear a green arm brassard. As if cotton hose weren't enough of a marker. Why not add string bonnets to the general ensemble?

The girls' hockey team was just starting out to practice and they must have been freshmen too, judging from the color of the uniforms. Looked as though they were practicing for Robin Hood, with a homemade Sherwood forest right at hand.

You still have time to get your tickets for the Sue Harvard concert on September 30th. A real treat by a real artist and a chance to help a real institution, the Jameson Memorial Hospital.

Answer False Alarm

Grown Person Held Responsible For Bogus Alarm Received
On Monday Evening

False alarm sending was revived Monday night upon receipt of an alarm from the box at North and Sankey streets. Two stations responded with fire apparatus only to discover the bogus alarm.

Fire Chief Lynn believes the fake call was not sent by a child, declaring in his report that "it would take a full grown person to reach the hook in this box."

Rates On Coal To New Hampshire
Too High, Claim

State Prepares Reduced Freight Rate Schedule For Presentation

(International News Service)
CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 23.—Claiming that industries of this section of the country are suffering from unreasonable and discriminatory railroad freight rates on coal shipped from the Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields, the State of New Hampshire today had prepared a reduced freight rate schedule for presentation to Examiner G. H. Peck, of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Coal, under the new schedule, would be classed with commodities carried at lowest cost by the forty defendant railroads, including the Boston and Maine and the Baltimore and Ohio. The claim was made that although coal weighs heavy it bulks small and is not a prey to wind and wreckage.

New Hampshire court records for the number of counsel and the amount of documentary evidence introduced was broken. Counsel for the principal defendant railroads were present together with counsel for the score of complaining manufacturing firms and industrial associations. Spectators were crowded into a small space beyond the array of lawyers and the great mass of legal documents stacked along the walls.

Preparing the way for the new schedule, Charles L. Whittemore, of Boston, expert for the New England Paper and Pulp Traffic Association, associated with the State of New Hampshire in the rate battle, presented and explained documents and exhibits. The defendant railroads, Whittemore asserted, imposed high coal rates on New England shipments, thereby placing New England industries at a disadvantage in their competition with Mid-Western industries. Although rates were high from the mines to the New York-New England harbor, the rates took a big jump as the New England railroads began handling the coal, he asserted.

It was estimated that "more than a ton" of exhibits, including maps, charts and diagrams were introduced by the complainants, which included a score of manufacturers in New England.

After the complainants' side is completed, the hearing may adjourn to Boston to hear the defendant railroads. The Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers' Association, also a complainant, was heard in Washington.

Colorado Springs
Has Busy Weather Man

(International News Service)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 23.—Colorado Springs has one of the busiest weather men in the country. At one and the same time recently it was snowing on Pike's Peak, 15 miles west of here, raining heavily in the pass, three miles west of here, while Colorado Springs was enjoying balmy autumn weather.

During the same evening there was a destructive hail storm in the vicinity of Florence, Colo., 30 miles southwest of here, and the first heavy frost of the season was reported in the mountain region west of here.

Beautiful Cereus Bloom
Is Preserved In Alcohol

It came like a beautiful Cinderella, like petals are fresh and incomparable with any flower. It is indeed a treasure.

Five years ago Mr. Fox planted a Cereus given her by her sister in Virginia. This is the first time the plant has bloomed. Many residents of the East side district saw the flower on Monday night between 6:30 and 7:00 when it was at its prime of beauty.

Right now it is just as beautiful as it was when it emerged from the jug on Monday evening. Clearly discernible are the start and radii formed of white "listening stamens," that have given the flower the name "Star of Bethlehem." The lily white shroud
